Rondout Valley Chamber Of Commerce Dinner

Held at Governor Clinton Hotel Is Attended By 230—Several Additional Memberships Secured—Speeches Are Well Received by Enthusiastic Gathering.

Two hundred and thirty people gathered at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday evening to attend the dinner and entertainment of the Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce, an organization started but a few months ago at Ellenville to broadcast the beauties and advantages of the Rondout Valley from "the Hudson to the Delaware", and judging by the enthusiasm which prevailed at the dinner the Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce is due to bring greater things to the territory which it was designed to exploit.

After but a few months of existence the Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce has grown from a small organization to a membership of 185 and to that number several additional members were added Tuesday evening. Not only has the organization grown in membership but in usefulness and during its short lifetime the organization has accomplished many things.

Dr. W. N. Thayer, superintendent at the Napanoch Institution for Defective delinquents, is president of the organization and in presiding at the dinner Tuesday evening he told of a few of the things which the chamber had done and also outlined some of its aims and ambitions.

To sell to the world the beauties and advantages of the Rondout Valley from the Hudson river to the Delaware and from the Shawangunks to the Catskills is the purpose for which the organization was formed but during its short lifetime it had broadened its scope and has been instrumental in doing many things of benefit to the people who now reside in the valley and which they are now enjoying. Even in Ellenville he said its work was being felt. It was a small body of men in Ellenville who gathered together and organized the chamber some months ago. That gathering might have been actuated then by the fact that Ellenville was then somewhat cut off from the world by roads which were being improved but now these same roads are completed and in use and the valley is tied together with a more neighborly spirit and a means of getting from place to place in the valley.

Says Valley Should Be United.

Dr. Thayer said the whole valley should be united. The Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce has started something which should be carried on. Benefits which have been derived from the infant organization may be extended and multiplied until the entire valley is united and its beauties and importance have been brought to the attention of the outside world and the valley made a still more prosperous and contented community. By co-operation in placing the natural advantages of the valley before the world these benefits may be more rapidly attained.

The people of the location must not be asleep to the opportunities that are within the valley and the stronger the organization which is attempting to carry on the work which has been undertaken, the sooner and the more sure will be the result desired. He invited anyone present who was not a member of the organization to become a member.

Kingston at the tide water end of the Rondout Valley was naturally one of the important centers of the region. Toward Kingston the attention of the people of the valley was turned and he said that the prosperity of the valley would be reflected in the growth and prosperity of Kingston.

Mayor Extends Welcome.

Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey was introduced and extended a word of welcome to the folks from the Rondout Valley. In his greeting to the people Mayor Dempsey said he felt it very gratifying to see so many people from the length and breadth of the valley, many of whom had traveled many miles to be in attendance at the dinner. The fact that many of them had traveled upwards of fifty miles to be present showed how deeply they were interested in the movement to build up and improve the region from which they came. Kingston being the county seat and the tide water town of the region naturally had much to offer to the permanent and temporary residents of the region. Kingston merchants and Kingston business houses were striving to offer the best possible service to the people from the valley. But in order to have good stores and good merchandise it was necessary to have customers and a generous support of the stores. "We need you out of town people" said Mayor Dempsey. Now with a new road extending practically all the length of the Rondout Valley there is every inducement to the people of the valley to use Kingston. The city he said was glad to help at any and all times and everything that could be done by Kingston and its people toward assisting the movement already taken up he said would be

Eliminate U. & D. Grade Crossing at Davenport Center

Albany, Oct. 2.—Elimination of the grade crossing of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad and the junction of the Harpersfield and Davenport center highways at Davenport Center is provided for in an order of the Public Service Commission today. The work will cost $100,000 exclusive of land and damages, and as the railroad has no engineering force, plans will be made by the Department of Public Works. The two roads are links in the tourist route from Kingston to Oneonta, via Stamford. The plan adopted provides for carrying the highway over the railroad tracks 294 feet east of the existing crossing and construct a pedestrian crossing on the line of the existing highway. The structure is to have a 24 foot roadway, approaches 34 feet wide, and paved to a width of 20 feet with bituminous macadam mixing method. One gasoline station and several small buildings will have to be removed. The Ulster & Delaware Railroad objected to the elimination on the ground that its revenues should be devoted to the maintenance of the property. It filed a brief to this effect. Traffic has been decreasing steadily and the company did not earn its fixed charges in 1925 or 1927; and a net deficit of $106,372.40 for 1928, and had a net surplus of $15,773.66 for the quarter ending March 31, 1929. The town opposed the elimination, and the county was willing to accept any plan agreeable to the railroad and department. In its determination to eliminate the crossing the Commission took into consideration the amount of rail and highway traffic; the unsatisfactory visibility prevailing and the accidents which have occurred at this crossing. The railroad is to perform all the construction work ordered.

Kingston Post Members at Races

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 1.—Louisville, scene of the famous Kentucky derby, which annually attracts thousands of race followers from all sections of the country, has probably never entertained a larger crowd of visitors than that in attendance at the American Legion national convention. It is conservatively estimated that there are at least 100,000 strangers in Louisville today. Pouring this number of people in a city of 325,000, surely does tax its resources to the limit.

Everywhere one goes one sees Legionnaires. Traffic on the main streets is practically at a standstill while Legion bands and drum corps march to and from their headquarters. Music of all descriptions fills the air from early morning until the wee sma' hours of the next.

Today was set aside by the management of the Churchill Downs race track as American Legion Day, all members of the Legion and the Auxiliary being permitted to enter free. As a result the big track was crowded to capacity. Most of the members of Kingston Post watched the ponies.

The competition Wednesday is the principal source of concern for Kingston Post just now. Championship corps from almost every state in the union will compete for the three prizes, so the corps winning must be well nigh perfect. The preliminaries are to be held Wednesday morning and the finals that night.

WANTS THREE YEAR OLD DECREE SET ASIDE.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 2 (AP).—Asserting that his former wife, Caryl Frink McArthur, "merely wants more money", Charles McArthur, Chicago playwright, today filed an answer to her petition asking that her divorce decree be set aside by the state supreme court. The decree was entered in superior court, Chicago, three years ago.

McArthur is now married to Helen Hayes, the actress.

To Confer Degree on MacDonald.

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP).—The honorary degree of doctor of laws will be conferred upon Prime Minister MacDonald by George Washington University during his visit to Washington.

George Washington University officials announced that the prime minister would be the guest of the university at its fall convention, October 3, at which time the degree would be conferred upon him.

Bus Line, Claims, Air Mail, City Hall Inspection

Those Were Some of the Matters Taken Up at the Common Council Meeting Tuesday Evening — Boy Scouts Seek Headquarters in City Hall—Other Matters.

Varied topics, including air mail service for Kingston; the holding of the public inspection of the city hall on October 21, the golden anniversary of the electric light; the rejection of a claim filed by Fred H. Jones, whose automobile was wrecked when it was crashed into by one of the city's fire trucks; deciding to hold a public hearing on Ferraro's bus petition on November 12, and the request of the Ulster County Boy Scout Council for room in the city hall for its headquarters, were taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the common council on Tuesday evening.

East Kingston Bus Line.

When Frank A. Tigar finally quit furnishing bus line service from the downtown section of the city to East Kingston, the Downtown Business Men's Association took steps to have Tigar's franchise revoked by the State Public Service Commission, and in the meantime arranged with Frank Ferraro of Glasco, to have one of his busses operate between East Kingston and this city. For some time now Ferraro's bus line has been serving this bus route.

Tuesday evening in carrying out the requirements of the state law Mr. Ferraro filed a petition with the common council asking that he be granted permission to operate this East Kingston bus line. A public hearing on the petition will be held on Tuesday evening, November 12, at 7 o'clock, preceding the regular monthly meeting of the common council.

Third Reading for Law.

The proposed local law that allows [illegible] number was given its third and final reading, and now goes to Mayor Dempsey to fix a date for holding a public hearing on it. The police force was recently increased in number in order to comply with the new state law allowing a policeman one day off in every seven.

Boy Scouts to Move.

A communication was read from the Ulster County Boy Scout Council stating that it would shortly be necessary to vacate the Chamber of Commerce building, which had recently changed hands, and asking if it were not possible to find room for the Boy Scouts in the city hall.

The communication was referred to Mayor Dempsey and the committee on building and supplies.

Jones's Claim Rejected.

Fred H. Jones of Scotia, whose Pontiac automobile was badly wrecked when the big pumper from the Central Fire Station crashed into it, filed a claim against the city, asking compensation for his car which he valued at $990, and also compensation at the rate of $15 daily until the claim was adjusted as he was now forced to engage an automobile to convey him back and forth to his work.

On the recommendation of Corporation Counsel Harry H. Flemming, who held that the city was not liable the auditing committee rejected the claim of Mr. Jones.

The damage to Jones's car occurred several days ago when the big pumper struck a depression in Broadway at St. James street and the driver of the apparatus lost control and it crashed into Jones's car which was parked at the curb on Broadway. In turn the Jones car crashed into another car which struck still another car, all of the cars being parked, one ahead of the other, at the curb.

City Hall Inspection.

Alderman O'Reilly of the building and supply committee, called attention to the fact that on Monday evening, October 21, the golden anniversary of the electric light would be celebrated in Kingston and that the committee had decided to have the city hall illuminated for the occasion and recommended that the city be set aside also for the public inspection of the city hall.

Attention was called to the fact that Judge A. T. Clearwater, city historian, had written a 45-page booklet entitled "Kingston" in which the history of the city from the early days to the present time was sketched. A copy of this booklet, which will be well worth preserving, is to be presented to each visitor at the city hall on Inspection Day. That day the city hall will be open for inspection from 9 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock that night.

Air Mail for Kingston.

Alderman O'Reilly offered a resolution that the post office department designate Kingston as an air mail station. A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to Postmaster Walter P. Crane of Kingston.

At the last meeting of the board of public works, Commissioner Fennedden of the airport committee of the board offered a resolution that the common council be requested to take such action.

Ask for Catch Basins.

Alderman Hermance introduced a resolution asking that the board of public works construct a catch basin in the center of Garden street, between Smith avenue and Foxhall avenue, while Alderman Burger introduced a resolution that the board of public works construct the following catch basins: one on each side

Advertise For Bids For Construction Of Tuberculosis Hospital

The Committee on Laboratory and Tuberculosis Hospital, of the Board of Supervisors, composed of Edward Young, William E. Every, John D. Rippert, William J. Smith and Wright J. Smith, are advertising for bids for the construction of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Sealed proposals will be received by the committee up to 2 o'clock on the afternoon of October 31, at which time they will be publicly opened and read, for the furnishing of all labor and material necessary for the construction of the new hospital, which is to be located on the site known as the "Keykout," in the 11th Ward of the City of Kingston.

There will be three contracts: No. 1 covering masonry, carpentry, elevators, refrigerator, painting and electric wiring; No. 2 covers plumbing and No. 3 is for heating, roof and metal work.

The plans and specifications may be seen at the office of Henry R. DeWitt, clerk of the Board of Supervisors. Copies may be secured from Teller & Halverson, architects, at 280 Wall street, Kingston. A deposit of $25 is required for each set of plans and specifications, of which sum $15 will be refunded upon return of the plans and specifications in good order.

A certified check for five per cent of the contract price must accompany each proposal and a bond of fifty per cent of the contract price will be required of contractors.

The county reserves the right to reject any proposal and to accept that which may be deemed best for the county.

Two Killed in Labor Troubles At Marion, N. C.

Marion, N. C., Oct. 2 (AP)—Two men were killed and 18 others wounded, 12 of them seriously, in a battle between union and non-union workers at the Marion Manufacturing Company's cotton mill here today.

The trouble started at 1 o'clock this morning when eighty members of the United Textile Workers of America, which recently settled a strike at the mill, walked out and formed a picket line outside the mill gates.

This morning, when shifts changed, several fights started. Sheriff O. F. Adkins and a number of deputies intervened. Someone fired a shot and in a few minutes there was a general fusillade. Sheriff Adkins announced that he had telegraphed Governor O. Max Gardner asking for troops.

The dead:

Sam Vickers, union member.

Randolph Hall, union member.

Among the injured were Sheriff O. F. Adkins and one of his deputies.

All but four of the injured were shot. The fours were clubbed.

All of the injured except Sheriff Adkins, Biggerstaff, Stepp and Cannon were shot. These four were clubbed during the affray.

Sheriff Adkins said that he did not know where the first shot came from but that he thought it came form the picket line. He said that a number of those wounded had been shot down by their own people, asserting that one man standing beside him fell as a number of shots were sent in his direction. The Marion Manufacturing Company resumed operations on an open-shop basis three weeks ago after having been closed for two months due to a walkout of many of their employes who were members of the United Textile Workers' Union.

This strike was followed by closing down of the Clinchfield Manufacturing Company mill, two miles distant.

Guardsmen Ordered Out.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 2 (AP)—Two companies of National Guardsmen today were ordered to East Marion, where a riot occurred this morning at the Marion Manufacturing Company's cotton mill. The Salisbury and North Wilkesboro companies were ordered to entrain for Marion as soon as possible.

BOYS OF 15 STEAL AUTOMOBILE IN SAUGERTIES.

John Martin, Arthur DeVall and Harvey Losee of Saugerties are being held for examination on a charge of stealing on Sunday an automobile of Eugene F. Thornton. The boys, aged about 15 years each, after taking the car made a trip through the mountain section. When they returned to the village they were apprehended by H. D. Abeel, father-in-law of Mr. Thornton, who had been notified. They admitted taking the car when found with it at Mower's gasoline filling station. The boys were turned over to Chief Richter of Saugerties village who took them before Police Justice Charles H. Bennett. A charge of larceny, second degree, was made against them. They were committed to the Ulster county jail for ten days pending an examination as to their mental and physical condition. The Martin boy is on probation from the State Industrial School at Rochester and as his mother is ill Judge Bernier, before whom he was taken on Monday afternoon in Children's Court, paroled him in the custody of his father.

BIDS ASKED FOR [illegible] GALLONS OIL

Bids for supplying 80,000 or more gallons of fuel oil to the county of Ulster are being solicited by the board of supervisors. The oil is to be used at the county house, county clerk's office and the county garage on Gage street. Bids at the price per gallon are solicited and the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Bids must be in by noon on October 15.

Lands Monoplane Here Despite the Heavy Rainfall

Jack McMillan, Flying Plane to New York, Decides to Land Here and Makes Good After Being Enveloped in Haze and Rain.

People on the streets at 8 o'clock this morning were attracted to the roar of an aeroplane motor which hovered over the city for several minutes. Although the plane was apparently flying low it could not be seen through the low hanging clouds and heavy rain which was falling at the time. There was much speculation as to who the aviator was who would brave a storm and wind such as was in progress. Others were of the opinion that it was an aviator who was seeking a landing place at the Kingston airport due to the bad visibility. That was the correct idea.

Jack McMillan, flying a Challenger-Rocket monoplane from St. Louis to New York city became enveloped in the haze and rain and was seeking the local airport to make a forced landing to get his bearings and weather reports before attempting to continue his journey to New York city, where he was to deliver the plane, a new one, to the Curtiss-Robbins Field at Garden City, where the plane is to be turned over to the Goodyear Rubber Company.

After flying as low as deemed safe over the city he failed to locate the field and turned his plane toward Hurley where he picked out a rye field which appeared to be available in case he was forced down. Determined to locate the Kingston airport if possible he returned to Kingston and circled the city for several minutes before locating the field. Flying low in order to see if the field was large enough to land his big ship he took his bearings and dropped to the field.

Later when a Freeman reporter interviewed him Mr. McMillan said he had no difficulty in landing on the field after he had located it. He hoped to get weather reports and take to the air later in the day if "humanly possible" to fly to New York city. He said he was to deliver the plane today. The trip he described as "ferrying" a ship from St. Louis to New York for delivery. He left St. Louis Monday at 1 o'clock and flew to Indianapolis. Tuesday he flew from there to the Albany airport and although the weather conditions were bad this morning he attempted to fly from Albany to New York. Near Kingston the visibility was so poor that he feared to attempt to make a landing in New York without weather reports and decided to touch at Kingston.

While in town he visited the Goodyear tire store of Bert Wilde on Broadway.

Had there been a suitable beacon at the local field to guide the aviator his anxiety would have been considerably lessened.

ALL WERE FAMILIAR WITH "ORIGINAL SIN".

Chicago, Oct. 2 (AP).—Dollar and a half words bounded around Dr. Wilhelm Pauck's lecture room at Chicago Theological Seminary yesterday to the chagrin and dismay of 100 new students of church history.

As near as the students could figure, Dr. Pauck was knocking science.

"Science," he said, "has destroyed the geocentricism of the Old Testament." The statement left the class cold.

"Science," he went on, "has undermined the foundations of Biblical anthropocentrism." This also fell on barren soil.

"And," said the professor, "it has repudiated the doctrine of original sin."

The familiar phrase revived the word-groggy class.

Injured on Second Day at School.

Enrolled on Monday at No. 2 School, little Sarah Ada, daughter of Professor and Mrs. Frederick Richens, of 111 Wurts street, was hurt within the school walls Tuesday. A long, heavy iron bar, which is used to barricade the door, fell over and struck the child's foot, splitting the big toe. Dr. J. B. Krom attended to the injury.

14 Missionaries Talk At Meeting Tuesday

Missionaries From All Parts of the World Address Session at St. James M. E. Church—Series of Departmental Meetings—Day of Prayer Service In Afternoon.

Fourteen missionaries, representing the New York branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in all parts of the world, spoke to delegates and persons interested in the organization Tuesday evening at St. James M. E. Church, where the society is meeting this week for its 60th anniversary. The church was crowded for the program.

The evening meeting opened with prayer, offered by Mrs. Charles E. Townsend, who was also in charge of devotions.

Welcome to the missionaries was given by Mrs. George A. Wilson, corresponding secretary, who told of the work of these "Bearers of the Cross", and introduced each one to the audience. Mrs. Wilson said that the branch was proud of its workers in foreign fields and that the organization was behind them. She also asked the audience to [illegible] of those missionaries who were on leave, but were serving the cause in the far places of the world.

The first missionary to be introduced was Miss Rotha S. Landis, stationed in China. Miss Landis spoke of her work in a Chinese girls' school, and said, "When I see what we can do for these girls, our life service is the least that we can give."

Miss Phoebe C. Wells, dean of the branch's workers in China, told the audience that "years of splendid service are giving to China young men and women, of which she can well be proud."

Miss Frances E. Woodruff, serving in a Chinese day school, spoke of the effect of Christianity upon the Chinese. She received satisfaction in her work "watching faces change in their love for Jesus", she said.

Her sister, Miss Mabel A. Woodruff, also serving in China, told the listeners that Christianity was making them leaders. The Chinese school faculties are becoming independent and they are acting upon their own ideas.

Mrs. Florence G. Reeves, the branch's lone worker in Bulgaria, who is in charge of a girl's school with 200 students, explained that her chosen country "was a little nation with a great soul". Her experiences were different than the others, she is working in a Christian country, but she pointed out that her school was turning out educated girls inbred with the spirit of Christ.

Miss Katherine M. Kinzly, working in India, thanked the branch for its support of her. She said that conditions in India demanded several more workers, and asked the New York branch to furnish one of them.

Miss Ida Grace Loper, also working in India, who is in charge of a farm there which aids women and children, will return from this leave to return to India for the fifth time. She has spent 31 years in India, and related several stories about the conditions there.

Miss Lula A. Miller, missionary to Korea, brought the greeting and well wishes of the Korean girls to the delegates. Miss Miller is in charge of several schools in that country and also does evangelistic work there.

Mrs. Charles D. Morris, also in Korea, said that "Christianity has given the Korean women peace." She explained that Christianity was the only religion presented to the Korean that had any outlook for the future.

Mrs. Robert Sharp, working in Korea as the sole missionary of the extension department, thanked that department for the aid they had given her in the things she had asked. Mrs. Sharp has spent 25 years in Korea.

Miss Florence Argus, "looking toward India," had just received her charge, after doing missionary work in New York City Hospital. She told of some of her experiences and said that she was looking forward to serving Christ in India.

Miss Elizabeth Beatty, who will become a missionary in the Orient next summer, thanked the branch for making it possible to take up a charge there. She will be a teacher in one of the schools there.

Miss Pearl Mason, missionary to China, pointed out that the Chinese were really a peaceful people, especially the Christian Chinese. Miss Mason is not serving in the New York branch, but came to the convention in the interests of one of her fellow teachers, who is a branch charge.

Miss Watters, daughter of the Rev. Philip Watters, who was pastor of the St. James M. E. Church from 1901 to 1903, told of her experiences in a Chinese hospital. She said that the Christian doctrine is responsible for much of the progress in China.

Following the remarks of the various missionaries, a paper, written by Mrs. Ernest D. North, entitled "The Retirement Fund Comes of Age," was read to the audience by Mrs. Franklyn Reed. Mrs. North stated that the conference should be proud of its child now $3,375,000. "It is our hope to raise $70,000 a year for the

Hurricane Blows Itself Out Near Virginia Capes

Atlanta, Oct. 2 (AP).—As the fury of the hurricane that started in the Bahamas blew itself out somewhere near the Virginia capes today, six deaths were added to the seven it took at Nassau, Bahamas, last week before it circled the Florida Peninsula, turned inland near Pensacola and headed northeastward across Alabama and Georgia.

In addition, the storm's progress across northwestern Florida, southeastern Alabama and central Georgia was marked by a trail of tangled communication lines, halted rail and roadway traffic, and, in scattered localities, damaged homes and buildings.

An unidentified man was drowned near Panama City, Fla. Another man was killed at Albany, Ga., by falling bricks. A woman was electrocuted by a fallen wire near Blackshear, Ga., and a negro near Valdosta, Ga., was similarly electrocuted. Two negroes were reported killed on a highway near Port St. Joe, Fla.

The excessive rainfall which accompanied the gale sent Georgia rivers and streams to near-flood stage in many instances.

A half dozen southeastern Alabama towns were without power and light last night, while virtually all highway and rail traffic in eastern Georgia was at a standstill.

Early today the wind had subsided and was blowing at an average of between 25 and 35 miles along the Georgia coast.

New Staff At Local Y. M. C. A.

The new staff of officers of the local Y. M. C. A. assumed their duties at the association building on Tuesday. The new officers are: Clarence S. Schoonmaker, general secretary; Nealand Fuller, boys' work secretary; and Guy Allen, physical director. Miss Hazel Alves is office secretary and Burton Van Deusen is assistant secretary.

The new officers are planning for a busy fall season at the association. All are experienced Y. M. C. A. workers.

TOSS BOMB THROUGH WINDOW OF $6,000,000 CLUBHOUSE

Chicago, Oct. 2 (AP).—In a year of nearly 100 bombings, last night's dynamite attack upon the Lake Shore Athletic Club was the first to be made against a fashionable and exclusive group of Chicagoans.

The bomb was tossed through a window of the $6,000,000 clubhouse, tearing a hole in the wall of the natatorium. The club is on Lake Shore Drive, in the heart of the Gold Coast. The force of the explosion was felt in nearby homes and hotels. Several members in the locker room and men and women in the lounge of the club were staggered by the blast.

The actual damage was estimated at "a few hundred dollars."

Police were investigating two theories, one that the bombing may have been done by terrorists employed by garage racketeers who were disgruntled over the fact that many members of the club used an adjoining vacant lot to park their cars. The other theory was that rival cab drivers, vying for the privilege of waiting at the club entrance for fares, had resorted to violence to show their dissatisfaction with the present arrangement, which gives the club business to a single company.

The bombers, in an automobile, were seen as they tossed the bomb, with sputtering fuse, through the window. The witness, a cab driver, pursued them but was outdistanced.

Storm Warnings for Great Lakes.

Cleveland, Oct. 2 (AP).—Northeast storm warnings for the lower Great Lakes Region were issued by the weather bureau here today. A wind velocity more than 30 miles per hour was recorded for Lake Erie. The high winds are likely to continue throughout today and tonight, the weather bureau said.

Fall Asks Dismissal of Charge.

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP).—Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior in the Harding cabinet, and central figure in the naval oil lease cases, today appeared in the District of Columbia supreme court to enter pleas for dismissal of a charge of bribery against him.

Vicks Now Passes 26 Million Yearly!

More and More Millions Follow Trend of Modern Medicine and Treat Colds Externally.

To keep pace with the ever-growing demand for Vicks VapoRub, the external treatment for colds, another increase is being made in the figure of the Vicks slogan, made famous when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly."

Only a short time ago, the well-known "17 Million" was raised to "21 Million." Again this figure has been outgrown, as more and more people turn to this better way of treating colds. There are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly"—a jar for every family in the United States.

A generation ago, when Vicks was originated, the idea of treating colds without "dosing" was almost unheard of. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing".

Mothers especially have appreciated this modern vaporizing ointment, because it checks colds without risk of upsetting children's delicate stomachs.

And so Vicks spread, until today it has become the family standby for colds—adults as well as children's—in more than 60 countries.

Is There an Experimental Laboratory in Your Cellar?

There is such a laboratory if you are trying first one coal and then another; if you are buying without a brand name to identify the better coal from the poorer.

When you buy Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite you get a coal that produces conclusive results instead of contributing to a series of experiments.

Analysis shows this coal to have the highest heating-value per dollar of any household fuel.

Moreover, the Old Company's own laboratories have gone to great pains to work out for the consumer the most efficient methods of heater management . . . so that its users may get full benefit from the surpassing heat value of this unusually pure, dense and uniform hard coal.

These methods have been embodied in a booklet that Old Company's dealers supply, without charge, to their customers. It's called "Handling Your Heater with Ease and Comfort."

Order Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite by its full brand name and so make sure of getting a coal that represents itself to you.

For name of your nearest dealer, look in your classified telephone directory under "Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite."

Child Training School Next Week

There is nearly a week during which time parents may arrange their affairs so as to be able to attend the child training school that will be held on the afternoons of October 9, 10 and 11 at the Y. W. C. A. under the patronage of the Women's Clubs of Ulster county, through the Ulster County Home Bureau.

This school offers instruction of such a character that parents of small children—pre-school children—would jump at the chance if money were offered them to enable them to leave their homes and go to Cornell University and take such an intensive course there. Now the course will be brought to them right here in Kingston and without one cent of charge.

What parent has entirely escaped the worry of getting the little folks in the home to eat such food as they should for their best good, and that without a fuss? Perhaps the child has not been having the right food any way and that fact has raised all sorts of disturbances in the life of the child. On the first day of the school it will be possible to learn about correct food for pre-school children; how to persuade them to eat it; and how to overcome present diet errors. The value of this lesson seems quite too apparent for further discussion.

Then there are all sorts of behavior problems that face every parent of a little child. Perhaps the getting a right view of these problems, especially with very sensitive children will be about the most valuable thing that could come into the life of any little child. Helping our boys and girls in this way instead of letting them form bad habits is the duty and privilege of parents, grandparents who are so apt to be over-indulgent, other relatives, teachers, etc. So one who has attended former lectures on this subject makes the announcement that this particular lecture will be found of vital interest to all persons who love children. That will be on Thursday afternoon.

There is much more than a matter of "fashion" or just a body-covering to the problem of correct clothing for small youngsters. Besides right materials for various times and seasons, good looks, small expense, etc., there is the big problem of having the clothing so well and simply made that the child can dress him or herself with such ease as to make it a joy, not a matter of [illegible] irritation, etc. All of these phases of the subject will be considered on Friday afternoon, the last day of the school.

Possibly the entire school, outside the time taken to carefully examine the exhibits, will take up nine or at the most ten hours of time, spread over three afternoons, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. By planning for all this now, and with the knowledge that little children who cannot possibly be cared for at their homes may be cared for by nurses at the Y. W. building, it would seem that the attendance of parents and especially mothers should be very large for this remarkably valuable school.

Rare Birds Taken Off Texas Coast

Collectors Get Specimens of Queer Species.

Corpus Christi, Texas.—An expedition headed by Dr. Francis Harper, under the auspices of the Academy of Natural Science of Philadelphia, has been visiting several islands off the Gulf coast of Texas to collect specimens of birds and other animal life peculiar to this region. During their stay they gathered 230 specimens of birds and 45 specimens of rodents.

Many rare specimens of birds were obtained on Lydia Ann island, three miles north of Port Aransas. This island, about two square miles, is not inhabited. It was there that a frigate bird, which had a spread of wings seven feet six inches was killed. The frigate bird nests along the southern coast of Mexico early in the spring. It migrates north and returns in the winter. When tired, it perches on some tree or other tall object.

Frigate Bird a Pirate.

The frigate bird gets its food by floating lazily above the water, where it robs a gull or tern of the fish he has caught.

Other specimens taken were an oyster catcher, a clapper rail, which resembles the prairie chicken with a long bill, and a turn stone, a small member of the snipe family, which turns over rocks with his bill in search of food. Another specimen was the skimmer, a bird about as large as the laughing gull. It also has a long [illegible] quarters of an inch longer than the upper. When hungry, it skims along quiet water with the lower jaw immersed to catch small fish. The cormorant, often called water turkey, swims completely submerged.

There are about ten species of terns, some of which were captured by Doctor Harper, the roseate, the gull billed, the black and the Arctic tern. The party also took a roseate spoonbill, commonly called flamingo, a beautiful rich pink bird.

The stilt, resembling a large snipe, is able to wade in water eighteen inches deep. The curlew, whose long bill is flexible, presses it into crab holes and fetches forth its meals.

Horned Larks Captured.

Several larks were taken by the expedition on the north end of Mustang island. According to Doctor Harper, these are subspecies of the meadow lark and are found in this country only. Several of the horned larks were also added to the collection.

One peculiar fact concerning rodents was noted by the scientists. The islands visited by the expedition are known to have been completely submerged several years ago. Yet a large number of rodents are on these islands. Ground squirrels, rats and gophers are the most common. The rat family included mice, cotton, red and kangaroo rats.

Snakes and lizards were taken from all the islands visited, and on Lydia Ann island signs of an iguana were reported.

Champion Egg Layer

Delicate instruments recently devised have proven that the oyster is not as silent as it has been supposed, for there is a constant undertone to be heard in the oyster beds. It is a fortunate thing that the hen oysters do not cackle every time they lay an egg, for the total egg product of the oyster is 5,000,000 eggs.

Plant Helped by Sleep

After "sleep" of from 15 to 20 minutes a plant developed in Germany produces new leaves. So sensitive is it, says the Houston Post-Dispatch, that if the leaves are touched, or a match burned near them, they immediately wither and fall off. In about a quarter of an hour after the withered leaves have dropped off, new ones grow out.

Princess Line and New Length Feature Coat

Fall coat shown here features the princess line and the new length. This model is of black velvet. The collar and the inside of the bell sleeves are trimmed with ermine.

Autumn Fashion Hints for Careful Dressers

Feather hats or hats trimmed with feathers are often seen, but feathers so used must be flat.

Fur trimmings on velvet evening dresses, usually at the hem, and fur-bordered jackets for both day and evening wear are among the high lights.

Long gloves have been revived for evening, generally in nude or black, but bright red is something to think about. Evening coats are generally short and often fur trimmed.

The ensemble continues supreme and now is often in four sections. Tweed carries off the honors for sports and informal daytime costumes. Velvets are much in use, and panne is an important entry.

An eager acceptance of black cashmere for coats is noteworthy.

Feather turbans designed to simulate a coiffure and stitched fabric hats take their place with velvet and felt novelties.

Panne is frequently used to trim dull fabrics.

The fall headgear is not going to be behind the coats when it comes to fur trimming. The combination of felt and fur has received the warm approval of the Parisian experts at least. The short-haired furs are most used and broadtail is a favorite; so is mole and some of the shaved furs.

Shapely Oxfords Shown; Heels High and Slender

Oxfords in shapely effects are shown with novel laces, some with no tongues and some with edges meeting, and with openwork on each side of the middle section. For general afternoon wear there are many attractive and comfortable oxfords made of suede, with and without some other leather as trimming. In all, the heels are high and very slender, and the shoes in general are shaped to be as inconspicuous as possible. In fact, they are cut somewhat after the manner of the evening sandals with very little leather at the sides.

Evening shoes include both opera pumps and sandals. The latter have not much new to offer except in the way of color, which is dependent on the type of gown worn. Plain colors and ombre effects are quite effective in both sandal and pump styles. Both heel and toe trimming is noted on some of the new evening shoes, being in most instances very discreetly handled. Modernistic effects are rendered in color combinations as well as in metallic trimmings on the shoes made of dyeable fabrics.

Browns and Beiges Are Favored Autumn Colors

Frequent mention has been made of brown for fall. The maroon or chestnut shades are usually flattering and in soft lights and shades. Combinations of brown and yellow continue to beguile, and after their summer record are deemed worthy to be carried over to the new season. Black, smartly trimmed with white, remains definitely in the foreground, while plum shades are added to a long and rather brilliant array of colors, including not only reds, but bright blues and a number of green. Evening shades are curiously enough less brilliant than those worn by day. Melon is among the newer shades under lively discussion.

Scarfs and Gardenias Decorations for Suits

Three-color scarfs—white, black and gray predominating, with additional colors making up the trio—are recent arrivals for wear with tailored suits.

White, smoke gray and lemon yellow often are combined for wear with black suits. Lemon, nasturtium and gray are favorite colorings.

Leather gardenias of matching shade are the classic accessory with the three-color scarf.

Earth's Waters

If the earth were a perfect sphere it is estimated that it would be covered by water to a depth of about 9,000 feet, or nearly two miles. The exact volume of water contained in the oceans is, of course, not known—only an estimate is available.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Hat and Skirt Have a Sympathetic Sense of Direction.

New York—As the fall season gets into its stride one is impressed by the preference accorded black, and black and white, still one cannot discount the homage paid to brown. Not only is the entire brown costume accorded an excellent position, but costumes in which brown is involved are strikingly numerous. There is for instance the very definite preference for brown footwear and gloves—the acceptance of brown jewelry accessories and the adoption of brown furs not only on self colors but on others—and more important still on black.

In the smartest ensembles being worn—and the ensemble is by all odds the smartest costume—one is struck by the frequency with which the trimming details are duplicated on both dress and coat. The stunning frock sketched is to be followed tomorrow by the coat which accompanies it, and on both one sees the diamond motif made with pin-tucks. Even before seeing the coat one suspects it will be short, and that it will follow the line of the frankly irregular skirt. Notice, by the way, that its unevenness assumes a new line, dipping as it does on either side. This is a line highly regarded in circles already jaded by the longer-in-back expression of the uneven theme.

The Dress of An Ensemble From Marcel Rochos of Dark Brown Broadcloth. The Circular Skirt, Incrusted in Points on the Flat Hips, With an Inverted Pleat in the Front, Falls in Decided Points on Each Side.

(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild.)

Light weight woolens, broadcloth being an excellent example, are important for the day time ensemble, either alone or in combination with velvet or fur.

To be consistent one must have one's hat carry out the silhouette. The long sided, off-the-forehead hat is the best companion for a skirt cut on these lines, while the fisherman's hat, with its elongated back trim better completes the down-in-the-back costumes.

No White Man Carries Own Parcels in India

Outside the bazaar in Calcutta you observe as you pass in, certain lean little men in loin cloths, each having a large circular basket with two handles.

One of them promptly follows you, padding along noiselessly with his bare feet, and you are half-way through the first alley before you become conscious of his presence.

You tell him to go away. He does not go. You try to shoo him, as you would an over-affectionate dog. Nothing doing. He is there to carry parcels for buyers in the bazaar, and it is not within the range of his understanding to conceive of a foreign sahib, all done up in white clothes and shoes and pith helmet, to be anything else than a prodigal buyer.

So he abides with you, and when you have bought one small brass tea caddy and a carved box 3 by 4 inches, he insists on putting them into his basket, to be taken home with you. After trotting around with you for an hour or so, and padding along with you to your hotel, where the packages are delivered to a house boy, he receives four annas—about 10 cents—and he is content.

This system prevails throughout India, where no white man is expected to carry a bundle, however small. The carrying of burdens is the duty of the menial classes, hence the firmness with which the carriers of the bazaars maintain their particular kind of special delivery.—From the Ocean Ferry.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Distinctive Frock for the Growing Girl.

6618. Printed and plain linen combined in this model. Below the shaped yoke portion of a panel the right front is laid in a group of plaits. The left front and back are also joined to yoke portions, the back too showing plait fulness. The sleeve is of the bishop type, with fulness above a narrow band cuff. This pleasing frock may also be developed in jersey or wool crepe and in gingham and other wash fabrics. Checked gingham with chambrey or linen for facings is suggested, as practical for this model, as a school dress.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make the dress for a 12 year size will require 3¼ yards of 35 inch material. To make the yoke portions, band cuffs and belt of contrasting material will require ⅝ yard 32 inches wide and cut crosswise.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Escaping Gas Helps Rainfall in Texas

McCamey, Texas.—Meteorologists are satisfied that a change has been wrought in the climate of western and northwestern Texas by natural gas which is constantly escaping into the upper atmosphere from wells and storage tanks.

Research along this line was started five years ago by Dr. L. A. Weinich, oil geologist, who combined meteorological studies with his field work in Texas. He made a preliminary report in 1927 in which he pointed out the increase of rainfall during the preceding six years over any corresponding period of years. The average increase of precipitation was four inches a year in the South Plains and Panhandle regions.

Doctor Weinich's meteorological studies have been continued by several oil companies operating in the west Texas and Panhandle fields, and their results corroborate the theory and findings of Weinich. The annual rainfall is now increasing at the rate of approximately two inches a year and agricultural conditions have been better than ever before.

Birds Easy to Confine

Because birds such as the flamingo and stork (and others of similar structure) require time in their takeoff to get up speed to fly, it is possible to keep them in open inclosures.

CARELESS SHIPBUILDERS.

Recent testimony before the Senate investigating committee tends to convey the impression that shipbuilders are very careless in their business methods and very reckless in the matter of paying out money. It is charged that certain shipbuilding companies employed a big-navy propagandist named Shearer to work against their government's policy at the Geneva disarmament conference and he worked so well in their interests that he gained for them $120,000,000 worth of contracts. The story came out because he was not satisfied with the $26,000 a year they were paying him and sued them for $250,000 more. On the stand high representatives of these companies admitted that somebody had employed Shearer, but said they knew hardly anything about him, did not think much of him and were virtually in ignorance of what he was doing, the "buck" of responsibility being passed by the higher-ups to the lower-downs, like a ball that is kept going and not allowed to settle anywhere. And they blandly indicated that what might have been done was of no real importance, while piously asserting not only their patriotism but their pacifism.

Yet one of them failed to escape the admission that Shearer was paid in cash and the transaction was kept off the books of the companies—an acknowledgment of something it was thought well to conceal. The whole affair is a very curious one and the testimony unprecedentedly self-contradictory. The doubtful character of the case of the shipbuilders, even as presented by themselves, would seem to be obvious, and yet there may be a chance for it to serve because big business is so very respectable and—the main point—so very influential.

POSTAL RATES AND DEFICIT.

There was no friendly welcome for the intimation from the Postoffice Department that the rate of ordinary letter postage might be raised to three cents, and Postmaster-General Brown has since said that the department will recommend no change in postage until he has full data on which a revision of postal charges can be based, although he is of the opinion that it will be found necessary to charge a greater proportion of the department's operating expenses against the first class mail. In his vigorous attack on the three-cent letter postage suggestion Senator Moses pointed out that parcel post is 60 per cent of the weight of the mails and returns only 25 per cent of the receipts. He said he was not satisfied that "the estimate of $6,000,000 loss on parcel post is anything like the actual figures." He also expressed the belief that the estimated cost of the franked mails should be charged against other governmental departments or be covered by a lumped appropriation which will permit its deduction from the postal deficit.

This suggestion has been followed by another along the same line. "If," says the Springfield Republican, "the air mail entails a yearly loss of $6,000,000, that, too, should be deducted from operating costs and the sum should be treated frankly as a subsidy to aviation." With such heavy losses in two other departments, in addition to that caused by the franking privilege, it would appear that any real prospect of wiping out the deficit is slim indeed.

In the month of August the public was offered $370,000,000 more in new investment trust and security company issues, and the game continues at about the same pace. The total figure for the year now, in this form of investment, runs into billions. It is not only a new and striking form of investment in itself, but a new and potent force in the Stock Market. The billions raised by the sale of shares in investment trusts are used at the discretion of the trust officials to buy standard industrial and commercial securities. These enterprises gain as the market gains. Naturally they exert a bull influence. They are a steadying force, in the sense that they may prevent the bottom from dropping out of the market, or the top from blowing off, at any particulary moment. But they tend to force security prices higher and higher, in competitive buying, and thus have a speculative influence which may not be so good.

London, with much of the rest of England, has been suffering from the worst drouth in 71 years. Crops in the country have burned up. Rivers have dried up. Cities have had their water supply so restricted that people were barely allowed to wash their faces. Outdoor sprinkling of lawns has been forbidden for weeks. There has been a drouth in France almost as bad. In many parts of the United States, after several months of plentiful moisture, it has grown abnormally dry. The Great Lakes region particularly has felt this drouth. Water levels, which during the summer rose to the greatest height in 42 years, have been receding rapidly. This is in a period of sunspots, which at their maximum intensity are supposed to affect the weather on the earth and produce heavy rainfall. There's no accounting for weather, even sunspots, the last resource of scientific weather sharps, go back on them.

The savings banks of New York City now hold much less money than a year or two ago. The explanation given is that depositors are withdrawing funds to invest in securities or "play the market."

TYPES OF WAKEFULNESS.

You meet people frequently who tell you that they never sleep, that they lie awake night after night and get perhaps but a few minutes' sleep each night.

Now such a thing as complete wakefulness for any time, even a few days, is so rare that it is only seen in severe brain conditions. As a matter of fact these "sleepless" individuals get more sleep than they think, but because they find themselves awake during the night, dream considerably, or have some difficulty in getting off to sleep, imagine they get little or no sleep.

Now although the cause of sleep is unknown there is nothing more important to health than sleep and if you are not getting the amount you need the reason should be sought at once.

There is the individual who has considerable trouble in getting off to sleep, sometimes it takes two or three hours, but finally he gets to sleep and sleeps pretty well until morning.

Then there is the other type where the individual has no difficulty getting off to sleep, in fact can hardly wait to get to bed, he is so sleepy, but in two or three hours he awakes and finds it difficult to get off to sleep again.

Now where there is difficulty going to sleep it is usually because the individual has something on his mind, is worrying, and finally from sheer exhaustion he ceases to worry, and so goes off to sleep.

Where the individual goes off to sleep readily but wakes during the night it is usually because he is not well, and is exhausted due to some infection, perhaps is undernourished. After two or three hours of sleep, these physical causes that "irritate" the body and mind become active again, and he awakens.

The above types of sleeplessness and their causes may help you to go after the cause of your own sleeplessness. Remember, being too drowsy all the time, or wanting to sleep all the time, is often a sign of infection or poisoning from neglected teeth or constipation.

Sleep is as important as food, so see that you get enough, but not too much.

Opossum's Pouch

The opossum is the only American animal that belongs to the class of marsupials or pouched animals. There are usually two litters a year and from five to fourteen to a litter. According to the investigations of Dr. Carl Hartman of the University of Texas, an authority on the subject, the young are born undeveloped or in embryo form and crawl by their own efforts into the pouch of the mother. There they remain for 65 to 75 days, never leaving the pouch and depending entirely upon the mother. Even after they are able to provide for themselves and leave the pouch, they may return there or may attach themselves to the mother's hair or tail.

THE LUXURY HUSBAND

By MAYSIE GREIG

SYNOPSIS: Barbara Lardon and Ray Lowther, who engaged to marry, meet unexpectedly aboard a ship on which the handsome and wealthy Barbara is making a Mediterranean cruise. Ray, who is living in the atmosphere of a has-been, makes an unpleasant scene a short distance there from that after she had attended the funeral at a college of that a boy she heartedly declares that he had when he learned of it, rushed and committed suicide by avoid arrest for embezzlement and in the face by fortune was lost. But she has been visiting acquaintance with a fortune-hunting adventurer, Ralph Henderson, but still likes Ray and cannot understand why their engaged fortunes should have shattered their romance.

Chapter 2

BARBARA PROPOSES

BARBARA could not understand this man beside her, or his statement that, when he discovered himself penniless and his name disgraced, he disappeared, because he knew it would make no difference to her.

After a brief silence Ray spoke again:

"I knew you loved me and were too generous to let my altered fortune make any difference. You would have insisted upon marrying me in spite of everything. I couldn't risk your doing that!"

"Why?"

"I am asking you to marry me, Ray."

He continued to stare at her, then abruptly he put his hands on her shoulders, turning her round so that the moon was shining directly down into her face.

Her hazel eyes met his unflinchingly.

"But, my dear," Ray said, "don't you see that if it was impossible then it's doubly so now?"

She shook her head and he persisted.

"But it is. What am I? A composer of jazz whose music no publisher will take a chance on—"

"What does that matter? I love you, Ray. I did everything to forget you in a mad search for pleasure. I fooled myself that I was getting forgetfulness out of it, but I wasn't. Everybody seemed so empty, and after the parties I used often to cry myself to sleep."

She turned away from him. Ray was looking down at her, worship tinged with humility in his eyes and misery stamped all over his face.

"Barbara, I'm sorry. But, dear, it wouldn't work out. I've hardly enough to keep myself, let alone a wife—"

"What does that matter? I've more than enough for both of us."

He stiffened immediately.

Barbara stared into the sea—if only she could make Ray understand.

"Call it pride, if you like," he laughed. "My pride."

"Your pride? And what about mine?" Barbara retorted. "That my pride should suffer didn't seem to occur to you."

"No," he admitted bluntly. "I fancied that you'd soon get over it and be equally happy with some other fellow. You were on! 18."

"I see. Yet, Ray, I should have been given a choice in the matter."

"I suppose so. I was afraid that you might persuade me in spite of myself. You see I loved you so desperately that I don't believe I could have resisted you—then."

"And now you imagine you're safe?"

Her tone held the accumulated bitterness of three years challenged him. She hoped that she was hurting him.

Suddenly he turned towards her, his eyes blazing and, catching hold of her wrists, he held them so tightly that his fingernails seemed to be digging into her very flesh.

"Stop that, Barbara. Don't you think you've hurt me enough already tonight? You talk about yourself. It doesn't seem to occur to you that I may have suffered and suffered damnably. It's hardly pleasant to lose the girl you love, the father you adore, and a fortune in one fell swoop, is it? Don't you think that I've been through enough that you must go on scratching at me now?"

Barbara wanted to throw her arms around his neck and kiss him! For she knew now that he was not indifferent and, suddenly, the whole world seemed changed for her.

All the same, she wanted him to admit more, much more.

"Do you know I thought you'd repented your declaration and had tried to get out of it in the easiest way possible."

His voice shook.

"It was a rotten thing to do. Forgive me, Barbara, and please believe that I'll do anything in my power to make it up to you again."

At that she caught her breath and seemed to be nerving herself to speak.

"If that's a bluff I'll call it. Prove what you've said by marrying me at the next port!"

Ray stared down in amazement.

"What are you trying to do, Barbara? Make a fool of me?"

She came close to him—so close that the top of her head was touching his chin.

"I couldn't live off your money, Barbara!"

"But," she protested, "if you earn enough to keep yourself. Wouldn't you be satisfied with that?"

He only laughed, and by his laugh she knew that she had lost.

She said fiercely, beating with her fists against the railing:

"But we could make it a success if you weren't so conscious of your own fool pride! You don't seem to think of me at all."

"It's because I do think of you that I'm not going to let you make us both eternally miserable."

But that infuriated her further.

"If you won't have me then, I'll take good care that no other man will want me. Just wait and see, Ray Lowther."

"You're hysterical, Barbara," he said curtly. "You don't know what you are saying. Can't I see you to your stateroom?"

But she only shook her head. After waiting miserably another minute, he walked away from her.

Barbara stood leaning against the railing for quite a few minutes after he had gone, staring down into the sea.

She could not see his point of view—she could not. Their first meeting had been at a club dance in New Haven, four years ago, and from that night to this she would not have given a snap of her fingers for any other man she had met.

It was not that he was so handsome: his teeth were uneven, his face too long and his black hair had not even the suspicion of a kink.

Barbara needed him. His desertion of her three years previously had almost killed her. She had tried to hide the hurt from the world and, in doing so, had perilously escaped warping her whole nature.

But now she was heartily tired of her old life—she was not being true to her best self, she knew—and she wanted Ray to rediscover the old Barbara in her and bring her to life again.

If he would only realize how desperately she needed him! She determined suddenly that he must be made to realize it.

"I'll make you marry me yet, Ray Lowther. See if I don't!"

Expert Self-Defense

Jujutsu is the Japanese art of self-defense without weapons. It depends for its effect largely upon the principle of making use of an opponent's strength and weight to disable or injure him and by applying pressure so that his movements will throw him out of balance, dislocate or break a joint, etc. It opposes knowledge and skill to strength and demands an expert knowledge of human anatomy.

Chain Store Idea Old

Although the American chain stores are generally looked upon as a modern institution, the idea is very old. The enormous Mitsui chain system in Japan dates back to 1643. The Fuggers of Augsburg, flourishing in the Fourteenth century, managed scores of branches in much the same manner as those of today.

Tunnels in Washington

There are tunnels to both the senate and house office buildings in the national capital. In the one leading to the senate office building there is a monorail electric car system. This convenience has not been installed in the tunnel leading to the house office building. A tunnel for transmission of books connects the Library of Congress with the Capitol.

WHY WE DO IT

Why We Read

By MEHRAN K. THOMSON, Ph. D.
Author of "The Springs of Human Action"

THIS is the age of reading. Despite our busy existence and the distractions of modern life we read a great deal. The total amount of reading is enormous.

New books are published at the rate of more than 10,000 a year. Some of the best sellers reach more than a million readers. Libraries are scattered through the length and breadth of the land. And yet books constitute a small part of the reading matter. The daily newspapers are so inexpensive and so attractive and contain so many items of interest that practically everyone reads at least one paper a day. The weekly and monthly magazines supply tons of additional reading material.

We read for various reasons—to keep informed, to be amused, to acquire knowledge and power, to keep up with the times, to locate bargains, to feed our minds, our emotions and our imaginations. And because the things we read are capable of affecting our physical and mental make-up, thanks to the dynamic nature of ideas we read to exercise the fundamental instincts.

How we read is as interesting as why we read. Most people read with their eyes, the exception being the blind person who reads by passing his fingers over raised letters. As a matter of fact we may read with any of our senses. These senses of sight and hearing and taste and smell and the rest are the gateways of our consciousness. Through them we come in touch with the outside world. Every idea conveyed to us through any sense organ is a form of reading.

The person who can read the meaning of written symbols does so by moving his eyes over words and symbols. The Chinese and Arabians begin at what we call the back end of a book and read towards the front, turning the pages from left to right. But in either case the eyes do not move smoothly along as was formerly supposed. In reading a book or newspaper your eyes move along in jerks. This is proved by photographing the eyes during the reading process. Another interesting feature is that the eye is blind during the transit.

The illiterate person is not necessarily deprived of any of the normal senses, nor is he necessarily an ignorant man. He is capable of reading in the broad sense, the sense of getting his knowledge and amusement directly instead of through printed symbols. It is the ignorance of the meaning of the letters and words that makes him illiterate and shuts to him one of the greatest sources of mind stimulation.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception was very good at times Tuesday night and very poor at other times. One of the features was the faultless reception of the Old Gold program from WOWO at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Songs of Scotland bring a breath of the Highlands to the Songalogue which will be presented by the Old Company Singers through WEAF and associated NBC stations on Sunday, October 6, at 7 p. m.

Sousa and his world famous band will again be guest entertainers at the General Motors Family party on Monday evening, October 7, with Buick as host. Seven years were required to persuade Sousa that he would in nowise abandon the high ideal of his band by broadcasting.

Two young American singers, one discovered in the east, the other on the Pacific coast, and brought out of obscurity by the Atwater Kent Foundation, will feature the Atwater Kent Radio Hour, at 9:15 Sunday evening, October 6. They will be assisted by the Concert Orchestra. The stories of these young artists—Miss Hazel Arth, formerly a Washington choir singer and Ted Roy, the "Singing Blacksmith" of Corvallis, Oregon—are typical of stories of other finds made in many parts of the United States since the Atwater Kent Foundation began its quest for new radio singers.

Characteristic melodies of the era when Buckwader, Primrose, and other burnt-corkers were all the rage will be heard when the Dutch Masters Minstrels broadcast through WJZ and associated NBC stations on Tuesday evening, October 8, at 9:30.

Nino Fucile, baritone, who will sing "Credo" from "Othello" in the Verdi program to be presented at 8 p. m., by the 55-piece Mobiloil Orchestra, October 9, is one of the best known of the new generation of Italian opera singers. The program will be given over the National Broadcasting Company System under the direction of Erno Rapee.

Mario Chamlee, famous lyric tenor of the Chicago Opera Company, will be the star of the Eveready Hour Tuesday evening, October 8, at nine o'clock eastern standard time.

President Von Hindenburg is 82.

Berlin, Oct. 2 (AP).—Germany's president, Paul Von Hindenburg, spent his eighty-second birthday today quietly with his family at Schorfheide, the presidential hunting lodge on the banks of beautiful Werbellin Lake, about 35 miles north of Berlin. The octogenarian's health was excellent, but the recent death of his sister made the event even more than formerly a family affair. Throughout Germany local patriotic bodies had arranged special celebrations in honor of the day.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 2.—The Rev. F. G. Baker and M. S. Dennison went to Suffern Monday to see Mr. Dennison's nephew, who is in the Suffern Hospital with a bad case of blood poisoning.

The members of the Men's Community Club are requested to meet at the Reformed Church on Thursday evening, October 3, at 7:45 o'clock, as they will be the guests of the St. Remy Community Club on that evening. All who have cars are requested to bring them.

The P.-T. A. of District No. 13, will meet at the school house Friday, October 4, at 3 o'clock. All members and those interested are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Short, Jr., have moved from the residence of David Harris on Bayard street to the residence of Mrs. Batrice Winchell on Bayard street.

A meeting of the official board of the Methodist Church will be held this evening at the home of James Tinnie.

The Port Ewen Methodist Church will have an excursion by bus to New York city on Friday, October 18. Bus will leave at 6:45. This in an ideal autumnal trip. Tickets on sale by the pastor, the Rev. Frederick Baker, the officials of the church and the correspondent at her home on Broadway.

Saugerties Has New Corporation

A certificate of incorporation of the Abbott Electrical Co., Inc., of Saugerties, with capital of $10,000, was filed in the Ulster county clerk's office Tuesday. The incorporators are Charles R., James W. and Nettie G. Abbott, all of Saugerties.

This corporation succeeds and takes over the business of C. R. and J. W. Abbott, electrical contractors, now located at 196 Main street, Saugerties. This firm commenced business on Partition street on January 1, 1922, but soon outgrowing its quarters removed to the Brede block and three years later purchased and remodeled the building where now located.

The president and treasurer of the new corporation, Charles R. Abbott, has had many years' experience in electrical work, having been employed by the Western Electric Company in 1909, and later becoming district superintendent of construction for the Ulster Electric Light Company. Mr. Abbott continued with the American Gas Company and the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, who were purchasers in turn of the Ulster Electric Light Company, until 1922, when he and his son, James W., engaged in the electrical contracting business for themselves.

After serving his apprenticeship in Philadelphia, James W. Abbott, the vice-president of the new company, entered the service of the merchant marine, becoming master electrician of the U. S. S. S. Daniel Webster, being then the youngest commissioned officer in the service, and after several trips to Europe on this vessel, resigned his commission and engaged in electrical business with his father, at Saugerties.

During all the steady progress of this concern, Nettie G. Abbott, the secretary of the new corporation, has had full charge of the office affairs of the firm and she continues in that capacity with the new company.

Commencing in a small way, by skillful and conscientious workmanship dealing and constant consideration of the needs of its patrons, this firm has grown steadily until it now employs a force of seven men in its construction work.

The very latest electrical appliances are always to be had at the company's office and the new corporation plans now to further extend its electrical business and to increase its construction and sales force.

Fowler & Connelly of this city are attorneys for the new company.

There's only one best gasoline

"What are the three best gasolines?" asked the motorist. "There's only one best gasoline... SOCONY SPECIAL plus ETHYL."

READ THE VERDICTS

"If anyone doubts the quality of your new gasoline, just tell him to try it. If he doesn't find it the best gasoline he ever used, then I am no judge of good gas."

"I am not much of a hand at writing testimonial letters, but after the performance of my car last Sunday, I feel I owe you a few lines to tell you that Socony Special plus Ethyl is certainly wonderful."

"The new Special gas made my car perform in a way I thought was impossible, and I shall go a long way to use nothing but Socony Special plus Ethyl."

"When a thing is good I believe in saying so. I have been in the gasoline game a good many years, and the best gasoline I have ever sold or used is Socony Special plus Ethyl. Results are what count with me, and the fact that I am selling more gasoline at a 3c premium means something. More people are stopping for Special every day."

SOCONY Special plus Ethyl sales have been mounting by leaps and bounds. Ten . . . fifteen . . . twenty . . . twenty-five per cent higher. From Maine to Long Island, Boston to Buffalo, in all makes of cars, large and small, new and old, this great gasoline has met with enthusiastic approval. Here only a month, Socony Special plus Ethyl has literally swept this part of the country.

Socony Special alone was the best straight-run untreated gasoline that could be made. It was a high-compression premium fuel which thousands of motorists found so good that they gladly paid the extra cost. There was just one thing that could be done to make it better, and that was to add Ethyl anti-knock fluid. We did that one thing at extra cost to ourselves, but no extra cost to you. We took the final bit of knocking out of a smooth, even-burning, clean, wonderful gas.

Is it any wonder that Socony Special plus Ethyl is the fastest-selling high-compression premium gasoline? Fill up your tank with Socony Special plus Ethyl and feel the difference.

Masons to Hold Service in Church

Owing to Vast Number of Acceptances to Seventy-fifth Anniversary of Rondout Lodge of Masons, the Anniversary Services Will be Held in Church.

Plans have been completed for the two-day celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, Free and Accepted Masons. Sunday evening, October 6, the members of the lodge will meet at the lodge rooms at 7 o'clock to proceed in a body to the Rondout Presbyterian Church where divine worship will be held. This service is open to the general public and the wives, members of the family and friends of the lodge are invited to attend Sunday evening.

The anniversary dinner will be held in the chapel of the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Monday evening, October 7, at 6:15 o'clock. It was planned to have the anniversary services later in the lodge rooms, but owing to the fact that John A. Dutton, Grand Master of Masons of New York state, and Deputy Grand Master Charles Johnston of Albany, will be the guests of honor, it has been decided to hold the lodge services in the auditorium of the church.

Following the serving of the supper the lodge officers will proceed to the lodge room where they will open lodge, transact whatever business is necessary, close the lodge and proceed back to the church where the anniversary program will be carried out with addresses by prominent speakers and also the state officers.

Sportsman

A Londoner, a strong swimmer, was spending a holiday at Le Touquet. He bathed each day at a part of the coast generally considered to be dangerous. He noticed that on every occasion a Frenchman on the shore watched him with gloomy interest. One day the Saxon broke silence.

"You like to see me swim?" he asked.

"Mais, non," the other shrugged. "But here they pay five francs for the recovery of a body."—Sporting and Dramatic News.

Treatment for Botulism

Botulism is poisoning from infected ripe olives, preserved fruit and vegetables. The symptoms and treatment, according to the Red Cross textbook on first aid, are similar to ptomaine poisoning. The person afflicted becomes sick at the stomach. His skin is cold and clammy, his pulse weak and there are severe pains in the abdomen and often eruptions of the skin. The treatment is to administer castor oil or epsom salts and a teaspoonful of charcoal, and send for a doctor.

"Man is what woman has to marry. He drinks, smokes, swears and doesn't go to church. Both sprang from apes, but woman sprang the farthest."

Maybe one reason why we don't have women presidents is that few of them ever reach the required age.

To be Up-to-Date Means to be Up-to-Chrysler

When anything new is produced, there are always those who create and those who follow.

In the change to balloon tires, some makers asserted the new type would never succeed. Four-wheel brakes found some who disastrously supported the two-wheel design. And today, there are engineers who decry the Multi-Range Gear Shift and the Down-Draft carburetor.

Chrysler has never been among those who shun new things—if the new be better than the old.

The public acclaim for Chrysler, instead, has been based on Chrysler's pioneering or ready acceptance of those new creations which have made motoring safer, more comfortable, surer and more economical.

To be always ahead of or abreast of the times, but never to experiment on the public is the real foundation of Chrysler success.

You who prefer the latest, the most advanced, the best, have made Chrysler the most copied car in the world. Because Chrysler has built the kind of cars you up-to-the-minute people want, you have given Chrysler the greatest success in the history of automobile building. We invite your most critical inspection.

Nurses Guests Of Auxiliary

...duation Class of Benedictine Training School Guests at Bridge Luncheon—Dr. Day Delivers Address.

The graduating class of nine nurses of the Benedictine Hospital Training School were the guests of honor at a bridge luncheon given by the ...s' Auxiliary of the Benedictine ...spital at the new Colony at Woodstock, Tuesday afternoon.

Seventy-five members of the Auxiliary were present to hear Mary Gage-Day, M. D., a past president of the Auxiliary, and member of the Hospital Staff and Training School Board, congratulate the nine graduates: Misses Alice Cooyes of Coxsackie, Viola Speenberg of Catskill, Jane Turner, Gladys Lynch, Anne ...ck, all of Kingston, Bertha Gler... of Gardiner, Mary V. Healy of New York city, Agnes Woerner and ...abeth Worf, also residents of Kingston.

The Luncheon Committee, consisting of Mrs. H. L. Van Norstrand and Mrs. Joan Dwyer Goldrick worked tirelessly and with great enthusiasm in an effort to see that the luncheon would be the gala affair that it was.

It was a colorful gathering that sat at the U shaped banquet table. The beautiful floral decorations of ...es and primroses added additional color and a charming contrast to the dietary's amber and terra-cotta table service.

A flashlight picture was taken of the party during the luncheon by ...fred Cohen of Woodstock.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Nicholas ... Murphy, present president of the ...ies' Auxiliary, made a few introductory remarks and then introduced the speaker of the occasion, ...ry Gage-Day.

In her address, Dr. Day said in part:

"As I have been sitting here my mind has been going over the past and the early beginnings of our work in the Benedictine Hospital. I see before me some of the early presidents of the Auxiliary and how well I remember the first year that I helped sell tickets for the ball. As I remember it, I sold fifty tickets and the chairman complimented me and expressed great gratitude for my able assistance. When the ball was over, we had cleared $700.00 and Sister Aloysia and all the Auxiliary thought that we had done very well. I think there must be about as many auxiliary members sitting before me now as we had in the whole organization at that time. We used this money for the support of the charity ward as we then had no help from the city to pay for such patients. It was not until several years later that one of our medical staff members, Dr. Frank ...man, decided that the city should help the Benedictine as well as the other hospital and with his usual persistence, he talked, and talked and talked about it and went to see Mayor Caufield with the result that after two or three years, it was finally brought about.

Twenty-two years ago last spring, we graduated our first class of nurses from the Training School. There were four girls in that first class. They all received their R. N. from the State Board and they are still living. That first graduation was quite an event. The exercises were held in the chapel. All the end and (covering the altar) was hung with white and gold cloth. The Staff sat on chairs in front at the left of the altar and the graduating nurses sat on the front seats while the relatives and friends sat behind. Sitting seats and chairs clear out on to the steps. Father Burtsell, first president of the board of directors, awarded the diplomas and pins and Dr. O'Meara presented the class, and ladies of the auxiliary received the guests and furnished the refreshments.

"The subsequent history has been one of growth and development. You all remember the valiant work of the Auxiliary in securing the present Nurses' Home which we have already outgrown. The addition to the hospital, which is frequently crowded to capacity and for some years the chapel has been too small for graduating exercises for nurses and they have been held in St. Mary's hall. The Training School is most fortunate at the present time in having the most able superintendent in all its history. Sister Callista, one of our own graduates and an R. N. who is not only a highly educated woman but who has been pursuing collegiate instruction at Columbia and will soon secure her B. S. degree from that university. Sister Ursula, instructress of nurses, one of our own graduates, has her R. N., a life certificate for teachers and will soon receive her B. S. degree from Columbia. Is it any wonder that with such wonderful instructors, that the present class has made a new departure and excelled all previous classes in that they have produced a class book, the Benesonde. (Message of Good Will). This book is beautifully gotten up, has many bright, witty touches and many beautiful ones. It is a credit to themselves and the institution and I congratulate them most heartily for setting a new, high standard for all subsequent classes to follow.

"As I think of the past, one text has been continually passing through my mind. It is this, 'Not by might, not by power, but by my spirit, sayeth the Lord of Hosts.' It has been by the spirit and desire to help care for the sick and suffering, which has animated all the workers for this institution which has made this great growth possible. In the past, we have not always thought alike about the best methods for accomplishing results, but the spirit and desire to be helpful in this great work has been in all of our hearts.

"As I think of the present hospital heads, the Very Rev. Joseph B. Scully, president of the board of directors, Sister Berenice, superintendent, an R. N., one of our own graduates, Sister Delphine, head of the surgical department, who is a graduate of Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, a hospital of nearly 300 beds, of our only original member of the hospital organization, Sister Ignatius, mother in the hospital. She is the connecting link between the very beginning and the present. I feel that the institution which we all love was never so strongly organized, as at the present. The foundation was well laid on the rock by those who have passed to their reward, Monsigneur Burtsell, the first president of the board of directors, our much-loved Sister Aloysia, first superintendent, several members of the staff, and many, many members of the Auxiliary.

"In the institution of today, we see the results of their labors with ours and it is our blessed privilege to 'carry on' to a still greater development in the future."

After the luncheon, the party adjourned to the mezzanine balcony overlooking the banquet floor where there were nineteen tables arranged for those who played bridge.

Grain Congestion In Canada

(By the Associated Press).

Canada is experiencing a congestion of grain at its ports characterized by shipping officials as unparalleled in history.

Elevators at the head of the lakes, bay ports and export ports are crammed. In the absence of overseas demand no vessels are moving.

More than 50 vessels loaded with wheat were unable to unload at the elevators because of the congestion at Montreal, and the same situation exists at Port Colborne.

At Fort William and Port Arthur shipping is at a standstill. Loaded grain carriers are awaiting orders to proceed eastward with their cargoes, but with no sign of alleviation of the situation in the east there is little chances of their moving.

No vessels are upbound to the head of the lakes for grain, owing to the lack of demand for tonnage.

Transit of wheat from country elevators to the head of the lakes has been curtailed by car rationing by the railways because there is no place to store it when it arrives there. Grain will be hauled from prairie points only when urgency of transportation is immediate.

With virtually no export market for Canadian flour, flour mills of Canada are operating at only 50 per cent of normal as a result of the grain blockade, according to an official of the Dominion Milling Association.

From 200 to 250 vessels are tied up as a result of the grain stoppage, it is estimated by H. B. Clark, secretary-treasurer of the Mathews Steamship Company, Limited.

Nick Zinna Turns Manager

Nick Zinna, who for two years has been active as a lightweight boxer, has taken to the managerial side of the game and is developing a stable that he expects will make a hit with armory fans this winter.

Charlie Fisher, Johnny his brother; Bill Schaffer and Frank Dangleo make up the Zinna outfit. Charlie Fisher and Bill Schaffer are known to ...tic fans, both having fought in the armory, but Johnny Fisher and Dangleo are newcomers to the soldier boxing ranks.

In Johnny Fisher, Zinna believes he has made a valuable and. Nick is well satisfied with the youngster and believes he will be able to successfully swap punches with any of the 130 pounders in the Guard.

Frank Dangleo, Nick's cousin, is being imported here from New York. He is a heavyweight, tipping the scales at 205. His height is six feet three inches and his age 21 years. According to Zinna the newcomer is quite an athlete. Whether he can fight remains to be seen. It is likely that his first appearance in the armory, if he is accepted in the Guard, will draw a crowd. He will be the first heavyweight among local talent.

Zinna predicts a great comeback for Charlie Fisher, who has been inactive for some time. At one time Charlie did his bit with some of the outstanding scrappers in the National Guard, including Frankie Konchina. Nick hopes to put him back on his old path by changing his fighting style.

Nick does not intend to quit the ring. He is working as hard as the boys he is handling and hopes to be in the best of condition for bouts this winter at the armory. He is anxious to meet Harry Matinsky again and if is Captain E. C. Lawson's intention to have the boys mix it in the opening show at the armory on Friday, October 11. However, the match is still in the air owing to conditions in Matinsky's camp.

It is hoped that the match will not fail through as it would pack the armory. The tilt surely would be a desirable one to top a card that will bring several Kingston boys before the fight patrons, some of the pugilists for their first appearance.

High Wind and Tide in New York

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Stiff gales accompanied by heavy rain lashed the north Atlantic seaboard today, heralding the advance of the diminishing tropical disturbance which is moving up along the coast from the south.

Storm warnings were issued throughout the eastern and central southern coastal states last night. The storm was centered in southern Virginia this morning. Its intensity died out, however, as it spread over a larger area.

The New Jersey coast was whipped by a 56-mile north wind, while along the New England coast the winds blew at the rate of more than 40 miles an hour.

The weather bureau predicted the storm would continue throughout the day and tonight but promised fair and warmer weather for Thursday.

A wind sweeping up New York harbor at more than 40 miles an hour created the highest tide of the year and forced suspension of ferry service across the lower Hudson river for more than an hour during the early rush period today.

At the battery the waves lapped within two feet of the top of the sea wall and ferry boat aprons could not be connected at Warren street because of the high water. Hundreds of commuters living in New Jersey were late in reaching their Manhattan offices.

Sewers backed up in the lower sections of the city and lakes formed in West and South streets.

RIDICULE CHARGE OF TAPPING TELEPHONE WIRES

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Opponents of Mayor James J. Walker in the mayoralty campaign today ridiculed charges that telephone wires serving the executive offices in the city hall had been tapped.

Announcement by Charles M. Kerrigan, assistant to Mayor Walker, that a terminal box in the city hall basement had been found broken open and a short piece of wire discovered inside indicating activities of a wire tapper caused a furore in city political circles.

Police Commissioner Whalen assigned a squad of detectives to the task of hunting for the wire tappers.

"If they wanted to find out anything about the city's business they wouldn't tap the mayor's wire," Fiorello M. La Guardia, Republican candidate for mayor, said. "This is certainly a compliment to Whalen's policing. By the time I get ready to go to city hall on January 1 there probably won't be any city hall left."

Richard E. Enright, former police commissioner and candidate of the Square Deal party, said:

"I hope they didn't tap the wire between Tammany Hall and the city hall. It is the most important wire in the city administration."

Republican Educational Council.

Syracuse, Oct. 2 (AP).—Seven hundred women gathered here today for the first meeting of the newly organized Republican Educational Council of New York State. The meeting will last through tomorrow. Among the speakers were Congresswoman Ruth Baker Pratt; Assemblyman Wallis H. Sargent of Onondago county, and the State Senator Seabury C. Mastick. Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Mrs. Rosalie L. Whitney, chairman of the Conference, presided.

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

While a cold rain along the Atlantic seaboard prevented the few eastern games in the major leagues yesterday, baseball action was confined to Cincinnati where the Reds closed out the Champion Cubs by a score of 3 to 2. The game was important chiefly because it furnished Rogers Hornsby an opportunity to collect three singles in four times at bat, and to raise his batting average three points to .396.

This outburst in Cincinnati carried Hornsby to seven straight hits against the Rhineland pitching corps before Red Lucas stopped him in the eighth inning yesterday. The Rajah got four out of four on Sunday, winning the game by 1 to 0 with his thirty-ninth home run. Hornsby still has a fine chance to oust Babe Herman of Brooklyn from second place in the National League batting derby, but only a phenomenal spurt could carry him past Frank O'Doul, the heir apparent to Hornsby's throne with a neat mark of .395. Herman is hitting .384.

Chicago outhit Cincinnati by seven safe drives to six yesterday, but Lucas so scattered the Bruin attack in every inning but the second that he was in a position to win when his mates touched Guy Bush for three runs in the eighth. Lucas himself led this assault with a single. Swanson followed with another one-bagger and Little Hughie Critz cleaned up with a triple. Critz scored the winning marker a moment later when Charlie Grimm threw past the plate after fielding Walker's roller.

TY COBB SAYS ATHLETICS WILL BEAT THE CUBS

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Back from Europe, where he spent his first vacation in a quarter-century, "Ty" Cobb immediately jumped into world's series discussion with a prediction that the Athletics would beat the Cubs. Superior pitching and the experience contained in Connie Mack's head will win the series for the A's Cob said.

"The Cubs have no one to stop Foxx, Simmons and Miller," Cobb added. "If Chicago doesn't like speed, as I understand they don't, Grove can be called upon at any time in a short series."

This Week's Short Story

The strong man, knife in hand, gazed at the smooth white body in the water. "I cannot do it!" he groaned. "It is not a man's work!" and the tears streamed from his eyes. The woman, with a look of utter scorn on her face, took the knife and—finished peeling the onions.—The End.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The man who steps into the shoes of Miller Huggins to direct the ...ast that is still the most expensive in baseball, even if not the greatest, will have anything but a picnic on his hands when the 1930 American league campaign rolls around.

New York likes its winners and is quite ready to applaud the triumphant home-town forces just as it is equally willing to give the Bronx cheer to anything that smacks of mediocrity. Huggins knew what it was to hear both but he produced results, controlled his temperamental troupe with a strength that belied his diminutive frame and did his part toward making the Yankees the richest enterprise in baseball.

A less indomitable character than Huggins might have quit under the fire of criticism levelled at him, even after he had won three pennants and finally a world's championship from the Giants. "Hug" was always a scrapper. He could accomplish more, however, with a few biting remarks than most men could with a pair of fists. Among the giants of his team such as Ruth and Meusel, the little manager appeared like a stray child, yet he made even Ruth toe the mark.

Huggins was a great manager because he knew his men. He knew how to size up new material quickly. He was a shrewd trader, too, though he had the Ruppert check-book to back up most of his biggest deals. He was a great tactician. The general notion has always been that the Yankees battered their foes by the direct application of brute force but they probably played more and smarter "inside ball," under the direction of Huggins, than any other team in either league.

Led by the burly Ruth and massive Gehrig, there was much hilarity on the Yankee special train returning from the final victory in St. Louis last fall. Through the cars paraded the sluggers, tearing the shirts from every available back. All but Huggins had been "shorn."

"Where's Hug? Get Hug," bellowed the Babe.

They located the little manager finally in his berth, attired in pajamas. Unceremoniously, they yanked him out, disrobed him.

Fixing the Babe with a glare, Huggins yelled:

"Ruth, you're suspended for the rest of the season."

Ruth, who had his battles with Huggins, will miss the manager who knew the Babe better than the Babe knew himself. Ruppert, who backed Huggins to the limit through thick and thin, will find difficulty locating another such organizer.

Ruth must be signed to a new contract for 1930 and the Yankee pitching staff must be rebuilt to put the club back in the pennant hunt. But Huggins left assets that is liable to the lot of few to take over. The big punch is still there, newcomers like Lary and Dickey and sheriff beat the stamp of star replacements and a new class of recruits is already to respond to the colors.

Did All That Was Claimed For It In My Case Says This Man

Connelly Resident Highly Pleased With Results Obtained Through Using Dr. French's Nu-Erb.

"It was through a friend, that I first heard of the Nu-Erb and now after using it a while, I am here to say that it has done all that was claimed for it and more," said Mr. Edward McKinley, well known resident of Connelly, N. Y. (Near Kingston).

"For the past year or more, I had been troubled with indigestion and gas in my stomach, there were times when this condition would become so bad and cause me so much pain and distress that I scarcely knew what to do to get relief. In addition, I suffered from dizzy spells, floating spots before my eyes and my nerves seemed to be in an extremely weakened condition.

"Since using the Nu-Erb, however, these troubles have practically all disappeared. I scarcely ever have any trouble with my stomach although I eat just about anything I want. The dizzy spells, spots before my eyes and nervousness have all disappeared and my entire system has become so much stronger and better in every way that I am feeling like a different man. For this I owe full thanks to Nu-Erb and I gladly recommend it to others."

The virtue of Nu-Erb is due to a combination of herbs, roots, leaves and barks which act on the vital organs of the human body. Each one is a tonic within itself and combined they form one of the greatest medicines of the day for combatting disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels.

McBride's Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Nominations in Town of Olive

The Olive Republicans held an open caucus Friday evening, with a large attendance. About 150 autos were parked about the hall and in the vicinity and the spacious auditorium was unable to accommodate the people. Ira Eimendorf was named chairman and Arthur Trowbridge clerk.

Jesse Shurter, in a stirring appeal, reviewed the achievements of the Republican administration and placed in nomination for supervisor the present incumbent, Chester A. Lyons, who was named without opposition. Mr. Lyons thanked the convention for the honor and promised if re-elected to continue his work for the welfare of the people of the town of Olive, regardless of politics. His address met with great applause.

John Marshall was nominated for town clerk without opposition.

There were three candidates for the office of collector—Charles Jansen, the present collector, William Burgher and Harry Braithwaite. Mr. Jansen was named on the first ballot.

The real contest was over the nomination for town superintendent of highways, four names being brought forward—Clarence Donohue, John W. Kelder, Harry Keator and Marvin Vandemark. Mr. Donohue led on the first ballot, Mr. Vandemark being dropped as low man. There was no majority on the second ballot, when Harry Keator was eliminated. On the third ballot Mr. Donohoe received a majority and was declared the nominee.

Martin J. Every and Jesse Shurter were unanimous choices for assessors. Mr. Every thanked the voters and promised if re-elected to continue to work for the town's welfare. Mr. Every was appointed by the town board after the resignation of Harry Keator at the beginning of the term to which he was elected two years ago. Mr. Every has been the one someone largely responsible for the raising of the assessment of the city of New York from $559,000 to $5,000,000, which it is said will be contested by the city. Mr. Every stated that he was desirous of carrying on the proceedings to a conclusion favorable to the town. Lester S. Davis, who at the last town election received a unanimous vote for constable, was the nominee selected for Justice of the Peace and Lewis Thiel was named as his running mate. There was no nomination for overseer of the poor. The following were named as constables: St. Clair Barnes, Melvin Barringer and Harold Davis. Harry Braithwaite was renominated for school director. Throughout the proceedings cigars and candy were freely dispensed by candidates. It was well toward 3 a.m. before the routine work was finished and the meeting stood adjourned.

Democratic Caucus.

Democratic delegates met in a closed caucus at the Tongore I.O.O.F. Hall Friday afternoon and nominated the following ticket:

Supervisor—Alonzo Haver.
Town Clerk—Mrs. Elthea Quick.
Collector—Claude Bell.
Superintendent of Highways—Ernest Eckert.
Assessors—John Jordan, Otis Bardin.
Justices—Fred L. Weidner, Lyman Smith.
Overseers of the Poor—Freeman Every, Early North.
Constables—Earl Eimendorf, Tilden Bell, William Quick, Homer Sheldon, William Beesmer.
School Director—Marshall Roosa.

The committee on vacancies is Grover Winchell, James Bush, David L. Windrum. Mrs. Quick will go down in history as the first woman to be placed in nomination for an elective office in the town of Olive.

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, Oct. 1.—With the return to standard time most people breath a sigh of relief after five months of the questionable daylight saving or fool time, as it is generally known locally.

This section is experiencing a spell of August type weather. The promised showers have failed to materialize and the water situation continues. Emil Constable's reservoir has now failed completely.

The recent caucuses created much local interest, both parties placing a strong lineup in the field.

The Sunday afternoon services at the Baptist Church continue to attract a large attendance, though the summer visitors have departed, revealing to a surprising degree the interest maintained in our community church.

A number of reservations have already been made at Maple Dell Farm for the hunting season. Widely known as the Deer Hunters' Retreat, year after year hunters from many sections gather here during the deer season, where bountiful tables are served amid ideal surroundings for a pleasant and successful stay.

A delegation of local Rebekahs plan to attend the ceremonies of installation and social evening at Bearsville Agapae Rebekah Lodge on Wednesday evening, October 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder and family enjoyed a combined business and recreation trip to Kingston on Saturday.

Mrs. William G. Walsh of Margaretville spent Saturday afternoon with friends at West Shokan Heights.

Mrs. Minnie Smith expects soon to pay a visit to the metropolis.

Seems hard to realize that this week marks the twentieth anniversary of the Hudson-Fulton celebration in New York and the Hudson river cities.

Mrs. Jane Gulnac of Ashokan, in company of her daughter-in-law, paid a visit with old freinds on Saturday afternoon.

The Maple Dell House was again full over the week-end.

Professor and Mrs. Condon were out of town visitors on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland P. Hamilton and family of Oneonta were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Watson Bishop at West Shokan Heights.

IS AN EVANGELIST AND A MUSICIAN

West Shokan, Oct. 1.—A pamphlet has been received from the Rev. George Rittenhouse, the Evangelist and music composer, who is well known in this section, having in the past on numerous occasions occupied the pulpits of the local and Phoenicia Baptist churches, and who with his inspirational messages and singing endeared himself to the residents of this community. The following sketch from his pamphlet entitled, "Constructive Evangelism", will no doubt prove of interest to readers of these items..

The Rev. George Rittenhouse entered the field of Evangelism after 17 years as pastor of Baptist churches in New York state. Eleven years of this period was in the service of Greater New York churches. He graduated from Colgate Theological Seminary in 1908. His ministry has been blessed of God in churches, army camps, auditoriums, summer tents and in the open air. During the latter period of the World War he served as chaplain of the 90th Infantry, U. S. A., at Camp Sevier and Camp Wadsworth, S. C. For the past ten years he has been a chaplain in the officers reserve corps and is commissioned as captain.

He proclaims the full gospel of Christ as revealed in the inspired word of God, emphasizing a living faith that is positive and assuring, loyal devotion to Christ as Savior and Lord, and loving service in His name and spirit.

Campaigns are based upon sound, constructive Evangelism, building upon the Word of God, relying upon the Holy Spirit, serving the church and community, avoiding unworthy methods and inspiring to permanent results. Topics are presented in such a manner as to awaken keen interest and growing enthusiasm.

Glad gospel music adds to the attractiveness of the campaign. The Evangelist's experience as a choir director in a New York city church and his special studies in harmony and hymology have given him a keen appreciation of the power and beauty of music. He is prepared to cooperate with the song leader and musicians supplied by the local church or he will bring with him a musical director and soloists to take charge, as the churches desire.

Inspiring campaigns may be held with single churches or with a union of churches. They are timely at any season of the year—spring, summer, autumn or winter. Campaigns may extend one week, fifteen days or longer as desired. If preferred, they may be made in the nature of inspirational Bible conferences. No unpleasantness in financial matters has ever followed one of these glorious gospel campaigns.

A Shop Sign

In Palermo, a shop has the following sign both in Latin and in Greek: "Latin spoken here, but not in the way the barber next door advertises on his sign that reads 'Every language spoken here.' When you ask him who speaks so many languages, knowing that he knows none, he will say, 'my customers.'"

Children Almost Hate Cross, Nervous Mother

"My children almost hated me, I was so cross. Thanks to Vinol, my nervousness is all gone and we are happy again."—Mrs. T. Johnstone.

Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc. The very FIRST bottle makes you sleep better and have a BIG appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the iron, phosphates, etc., give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious. McBride Drug Stores.

Girl Scientist's Mistake Delights Abyssinian King

Gertrude Sanford, New York society girl and scientist, unwittingly sat on the throne of Abyssinia and is shown above with mule given her by king who enjoyed joke. Below Miss Sanford in camp.

New York (AP).—It was science that took Miss Gertrude Sanford, New York society girl, as a guest recently to a royal banquet given by the king and queen of Abyssinia.

But it was American styles in feminine wear that placed her unwittingly and temporarily, on the ancient throne of Abyssinia. The story has just reached New York.

Miss Sanford who with Morris and Sidney Legendre and T. D. Carter is collecting specimens for the American Museum of Natural History, was talking with the queen after the banquet. Her highness was asking innumerable questions about the expedition, about American women, styles and hats.

In the midst of a volley of questions the queen said, "Won't you sit down?"

Miss Sanford, intent on satisfying the royal curiosity, sat in the nearest chair.

It was massive, heavily carved, highly decorated. It happened to be the throne of Abyssinia, but Miss Sanford was not conscious of it.

Court custom decrees that no one may sit down until the king is seated upon his throne. So the entire court, ambassadors, foreign ministers, dignitaries of the country, and the king himself, stood until the queen had finished her cross questioning on American customs.

His majesty, Ras Tafari, so greatly enjoyed the joke on himself that next morning he sent a blooded mule, in gay trappings, with the compliments of the king, to Miss Sanford.

your heating system ...a... lifetime investment

YOU should buy a heating system only once. You may reasonably expect a lifetime of service from the modern Holland Vaporaire. There is nothing in its construction or principle of operation that will be obsolete in the years to come. Excess strength is built into every part of the Holland system. Original Hollands installed 20 years ago are still in use. Holland Vaporaire supplies the same type of moist, moving and humidified air that is used in modern schools, theatres, hospitals and public buildings. Your doctor will tell you that Holland Vaporaire is the right principle and that the majority of colds in the winter time come from the dry, stagnant air supplied by the ordinary heating system. In convenience, cleanliness and comfort Holland is unsurpassed. Holland burns any kind of fuel and saves between 10% and 30% of it. In buying a Holland you deal directly with the largest installers of home heating systems in the world. Comfort and complete satisfaction are guaranteed. Holland is the greatest dollar for dollar value on the market today costing much less per year of service than any other system you can buy. Prices are low and terms liberal. Let the factory-trained heating engineer give you the facts—there is no obligation—call the Holland Factory Branch today.

Alderman Burger introduced a resolution that the railroad committee and the corporation counsel take up with the New York Central the question of having an automatic flashing light signal installed on the Clinton avenue crossing of the Wallkill Valley railroad.

Other Resolutions.

Alderman O'Reilly's resolution that the building and supply committee be authorized to replace the police pool table which had been destroyed in the city hall fire, was referred to the finance committee.

Alderman Fox's resolution that a white line be drawn on south side of the Strand and the Ulster & Delaware railroad tracks near Gill street, as there had been a number of accidents at that point, was referred to the board of public works.

Alderman Haines's resolution that a large light be placed at the corner of O'Neil street and South Manor avenue, was referred to the board of [illegible]. The same action was taken in his resolution that the Ulster & Delaware railroad repair the Downs street crossing.

Alderman Hermance's resolution that a fire alarm box be placed between Stephan street and Shufeldt street on Foxhall avenue, was referred to the fire board.

Alderman Hermance's resolution that a policeman be placed at Broadway and Foxhall avenue and Hasbrouck avenue and Foxhall avenue to stop traffic from passing the red light, was referred to the police board.

Bills and claims were read and the council then adjourned to Tuesday evening, November 12.

Tries to Get Married at Every Court House

Santa Cruz, Calif.—He was ninety-four years old, but was quite insistent that County Clerk H. E. Miller allow him to file notice of his intention to apply for a marriage license.

That no woman accompanied him did not embarrass him. In fact, he admitted he had no particular woman in view, but if the clerk would wait "just a few moments" he would go out and get one.

He gave his name as John J. Peters, residence Santa Barbara, "on a tour with the whole family."

On the courthouse steps, where the clerk followed him, he was met by two men.

"Hello, grandad, trying to get married again?" queried one.

It was learned that Peters insists on getting married whenever he arrives at a county seat.

Surfeit Of Bread And Wine Bars France's Winter Of Discontent

By J. EDWARD ANGLY
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Paris, (AP)—When winter comes, your Frenchman can button up his overcoat and go home smiling and content in the assurance that bread and wine are more plentiful than for many years. The sunny weather of 1929, following a dry and icy winter, has produced for him an abundance of both grain and grapes.

Your average Frenchman, as your average anybody else, cannot live by bread alone. But give him some wine to go with it, and he can make out. A jug of wine and a loaf of bread are as dear to his heart as they were to Omar, the poetic Persian. As for the book of verse and the tantalizing "Thou" and her song, Gallic tolerance leaves every man to his own taste.

The wheat crop is estimated at 318,000,000 bushels, an eighth more than last year, and more than enough for every breadbasket between the Riveria and the Channel, from the Vosges to the Pyrenees.

If one likes wine, then one would be wise to make a mental note that upon coming to France some later day, "1929" will be a good year to have upon the bottle. And it doesn't make much difference what kind of French wine is in the bottle.

All over France, in every vineyard, peasants and buyers tell the same story: 1929 will be a great year for both quality and quantity. In Alsace, whence come dry and golden wines and silvery high-powered liqueurs; in Touraines, where Anjou and Vouvray and many another wine is produced; along the highroad from Dijon to Macon, where the names of the towns and the Chateaux are carried round the world on labels of bottles of rich and warming burgundies, the news was always the same.

"No, it is true we have not yet plucked and pressed the grapes, but we don't have to wait for that, Monsieur, to be sure it's a great year. After such weather, there is no doubt of it."

In the Rhone and Saone valleys, along the hillsides and sheltered vineyards of Provence, and further west where red and white wines of Bordeaux are poured into millions of bottles and barrels, the toiling peasants and gesticulating merchants agreed that it has been many a year since the grapes were so good and so plentiful.

By the end of summer, prices of old wines began to fall, for warehouses and cellars had to find room for the new crop.

The folk least elated are the peasants who own and cultivate the vines. When it was known the crop would be a bumper one, prices, spot and futures declined. But the tax that the peasant owes on every barrel he sells, is fixed solely on quantity.

But while the peasant grumbles, the middle-classes, who have a theory that a bottle a day will keep the doctor away, are smacking their lips.

1600 Men Work On Augusta Levee

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 2 (AP).—Sixteen hundred men labored feverishly today to prevent flood waters of the Savannah river from breaking through the 13-mile levee that protects Augusta and inundating the city.

Already standing at 46.6 feet, two tenths of a foot higher than last week's record level, the water was expected to go to 47 feet under the pressure of heavy rains in the river's upper watershed. The city was completely isolated.

E. B. Emhigh, United States meteorologist at Augusta, last night said the floods were almost certain to break through into the city and told Mayor Bell the situation constituted the gravest crisis in Augusta's history.

R. S. Howard, United States district engineer at Savannah, in charge of strengthening the levee said there was grave danger of a crack at a point opposite the business section; and that, in its weakened condition, the levee probably would wash out if water entered the fissure. Residents of lowland sections were advised to move to higher points in the city.

Officials predicted backwater alone would stand at a depth of four feet in the business section by noon today. Last week's flood sent water varying in depth from six inches to two feet in the low-lying streets of the city.

All power in the city was gone, and taking heed of the warning, merchants worked last night by the light of candles, moving their stocks to upper stories and in some cases evacuating stores completely.

Residents faced a serious water shortage.

Rain continued to fall heavily in Augusta and vicinity throughout the night.

Listeners Didn't Quite Get Shades of Meaning

It all depends upon how you say it. There was once a clergyman by the name of Twitchel. In the pulpit he maintained a gravity of manner and expression, but out of the pulpit was a regular fellow. Occasionally he would, if the emergency required, introduce something queer in a sermon for the sake of arousing the attention of the congregation.

One Sunday, seeing that his hearers were becoming sleepy, he paused in his sermon and said: "Brethren, you haven't any idea of the sufferings of our missionaries in the new settlements, on account of the mosquitoes. The mosquitoes in some of these regions are enormous. A great many of them would weigh a pound, and they will get on the logs and bark when the missionaries are going along."

By this time all ears and eyes were open and he proceeded to finish his discourse. The next day one of the church members called him to account for telling lies in the pulpit.

"There never was a mosquito that weighed a pound," he said.

"But," replied the minister, "I didn't say one of them would weigh a pound; I said a great many, and I think a million of them would."

"But you said that they barked at the missionaries."

"No, no, brother; I said they would get on the logs and bark."—Boston Herald.

Fought Over Territory

The French claimed the whole Mississippi valley as well as all the land that was drained by the rivers flowing through the St. Lawrence. France strengthened her possessions and crept nearer to her enemies on their western frontier. They were warned not to infringe on British dominion. The result of this was the French and Indian war.

Rondout Valley Chamber Dinner

done. In concluding he invited the Chamber to again come to Kingston.

Reports on Activities.

Secretary Herman J. Levine was called upon to make a report of the activities of the organization since its last meeting in June. Briefly he told of many of the things which had been accomplished, including the establishment of the General Electric engineers at Ellenville, the adjustment of a difference between two rival hotel associations in Ellenville, a program of home beautifying in the valley for which prizes are offered, and many other things which the organization is backing up. Its membership was now 185 and more were coming in.

Amos Rodriguez, one of the promotion men from the New York World, was the next speaker introduced. In opening he said that all communities have a Chamber of Commerce but they differ. Some are live organizations and others are dead. Any Chamber of Commerce must have workers, the officers can't do all of the work and accomplish very much. He spoke of a campaign of publicity which had been carried on in Staten Island to acquaint the people of New York with the beauties which abound on the island. A short campaign of publicity had worked wonders.

Tells of New York City.

New York city he pictured as an overcrowded place which needed room for expansion. Metropolitan New York, he said, now included that territory up the river for fifty miles, all the way to Newburgh. New York was gradually pushing up the Hudson river as overcrowded conditions made necessary expansion. It would only be a short time when Kingston would be considered in metropolitan New York and better transit facilities would bring Kingston and New York closer together. In a few years by means of aeroplane it would be possible to leave business in Kingston, go to New York and see a show and fly back to Kingston by midnight.

From time to time as New York city grows there are sections of it taken over for improvements, such as the present bridge project where four square blocks of apartment houses are being demolished to make room for the Hudson river bridge approach. These people when forced out must go some place. It is up to the Rondout valley and Kingston will get its share. He advised selling to the public through publicity the advantages of this locality so that this section would get its proportionate share of the people who are always leaving New York to seek new places of residence. All communities are making a bid for this overflow and through an organization such as the Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce this locality could bring many people to the Rondout valley and increase its prosperity.

Not only is this true of people seeking residences but it is true of manufacturing plants. Due to high rent, labor troubles and other causes many manufacturers are leaving New York city. By promotion work to keep the advantages of this locality before the people Kingston should get its share of these manufacturing plants. He cited Bridgeport as a town which after the war had fallen into decay but by an intelligent and convincing plan of publicity Bridgeport was coming back.

Everyone is bidding for these factories and it is up to an organization to stand back of a community and get its share.

"The metropolitan area of New York city now extends fifty miles up the Hudson river, soon that area will be extended to seventy-five miles and then Kingston will be uptown New York", said the speaker and he concluded by saying that very soon the aeroplane would be tying together communities a hundred miles apart and making them one.

Dr. Loughran Unable to Attend.

Dr. John T. Loughran of New York who had been announced as one of the speakers of the evening was detained by business in New York. A telegram was received and read expressing his disappointment at not being able to be with the members and J. Edward Conway of this city was introduced as a "pinch-hitter" who has been secured to talk in place of Prof. Loughran.

Although Mr. Conway was introduced as a "pinch-hitter" he presented in a very able manner his message. He said in part:

"A kindly neighbor! Wars and strife will end: When man has made the man next door his friend."

"The existence of this organization, its success and rapid growth, manifested in this splendid gathering about the dinner table here this evening is primarily based upon that idea. Here, in truth, flourish the spirit of kindly neighborliness. The hands of friendship have, at last, extended from the Hudson to the Delaware and with unity of purpose we meet as true neighbors resolved to obtain for the Rondout Valley the recognition it so richly deserves.

"There stretches out before us a fertile field of endeavor wherein we have but to sow the seeds of service to reap a harvest of progress, prosperity and happiness, beyond our fondest dreams. We may do nothing and still attain success to some degree, or we may actively advertise, promote and develop these natural gifts to our immediate advantage.

"The natural progress of the valley, even for so short a period as 15 to 20 years past is safely comparable with that of any section of the country. But going further back, I am sure there lies in the memory of each of us a picture, painted from personal knowledge or historical fact—a picture of straggling hamlets and unkempt and uncultivated farms, practically isolated through lack of adequate transportation and ready means of communication. The picture of farms wherein the dwellers, with the first snowfall, barricaded themselves against the elements and hibernated until spring. The picture of the small hamlet with its general store the sole meeting place of its inhabitants. The store where you might be able to buy something but where nothing was ever sold. The store where bookkeeping was done on slates and business on the slow-motion basis. That picture of conditions we now regard as primitive, where the necessities of life were sought and once obtained, activity ceased. We realize as we reflect thereon, that the only basis of united community thought was the hostility toward neighboring towns.

"Today one may search in vain for those conditions. Where once existed a small dejected hamlet, there now flourishes an industrious, thriving village with modern stores and modern homes. The once untidy farm house has given place to a neat, comfortable home, surrounded by scientifically cultivated and richly productive farms. It is true that modern invention, largely, has wrought this change. That electricity, radio, automobiles and the broad, smooth pavements linking all neighborhoods have brought the outside world to each of us and each of us to the outside world. But to my mind one of the most important changes, is that which has taken place in man himself. The development of the community spirit. The readiness to cooperate with his neighbor for the welfare of his community or geographical section.

"While invention has broadened the scope of our activities, it has also extended the boundaries of the fields of our service and mankind everywhere has seized upon his new opportunities. Ours is one of the organizations which, owing its existence to this cooperative or community spirit, justifies its continuance by the promotion of sound, practical and progressive ideas.

"Now well established, ably directed and substantially supported, our Chamber of Commerce has a duty to exploit the beautiful scenic valley. I say it is a duty because there are so many people who blindly seek the very things we have to offer—natural beauty, health, prosperity and peace in mountains, streams, fertile valleys and industrious communities. Our duty is to those people and to ourselves for if we but let the world know of our treasures surely they will beat a pathway to our door.

"Nor must we hesitate in our endeavors. We cannot exaggerate the beauty of the valley. In fact we cannot fairly describe it. But while we stand back, inactive, lesser places and poorer communities attract, then disappoint a multitude. As a vacationist resort, as a health resort, as a place where commercial opportunities abound and where life is sweeter, the Rondout valley stands alone above the rest.

"This is not the proverbial, stagnant, 'hick' section. Here, alert, practical business men have built active, progressive villages, clean to the eye, quick to adopt all that means healthy development, villages that have remarkably grown and expanded in population and in community spirit. Here our farms are carefully managed by competent men who have contributed much to the advancement of their science, who readily adopt the newest methods and machinery and who make these farms a constant source of pride to all the valley. Here at the outlet of the valley stands our old city of Kingston, proud of its ancient and glorious past: proud of its bustling and ambitious present and proud of its rosy future with its unlimited opportunity for advancement. Its railroads, its water route, its industries and its commerce stand at the service of the Rondout valley, while its friendly and willing citizens unite in this Chamber of Commerce for the welfare of the valley.

"In natural beauty, in commercial opportunity, and in residential qualifications our section is unsurpassed. Why then do we hesitate to proclaim to the world, the gifts that are ours?

"In the accomplishment of our tasks the first step, it seems to me, is everlastingly to publish these facts. Convinced of their truth ourselves we should convince all with whom we come in contact and with all appropriate channels of publicity and by all proper means broadcast the glory and the beauty of the section we call home.

"And while diligently carrying on this work, we can accomplish much in the way of beautifying the roadside. The contest for the improvement of the homes is a worth while and progressive step which will amply return the investment. But hand in hand with that movement should go a campaign for the elimination of unsightly bill-boards and shabby signs. Nothing will more quickly distract one's attention from the beauty of his surroundings than the weather-beaten ruin of an outdoor advertisement. Some advertising is justifiable. A far smaller percentage is productive of profit. But there is no reason nor excuse for many of the shattered wrecks of antiquated advertising that clutter our roadsides today. We can really benefit our community, I believe, if we replace each of them with a neat, artistic sign calling attention to the historical, scenic, industrial or commercial importance of various points along the road-side. And it is truly hard to understand why we, who have so much, of which to boast, permit our neighbor to pass by and remain in ignorance of these matters.

"A second work of our organization seems already to be progressing rapidly. I refer to the closer union of the towns and the city, along commercial lines. Much has been done and much more can be accomplished through the cooperation of this, with every other local chamber of commerce throughout the valley. Not only is it the source of encouragement, but also a matter of pride that that cooperation has been everywhere extended. With this fine spirit continuing and increasing as it continues, I have no doubt that the Rondout Valley, from the Hudson to the Delaware, will rapidly assume its proper position in the spotlight of commercial, industrial and scenic prominence.

"The goal is assured for us if we bear in mind the little verse:

"Think big and your deeds will grow
Think small and you'll fall behind;
Think that you can and you will—
It's all in the state of mind."

Judge McNamee Speaks.

The last speaker of the evening was Supreme Court Judge Daniel V. McNamee of Hudson. In his address he spoke not of selling the community but selling the individual. Every community was made up of individuals and by so living and so conducting ourselves we made a community. If we sold ourselves we must sell the community. "Men make a community but it takes God to make a man," said Judge McNamee. "Sell yourself as a man or a woman and the community will go like hot cakes," was Judge McNamee's way of putting the matter before his audience.

In his talk he spoke of his present office as supreme court judge. He spoke of the seriousness in which he held the trust which had been given him.

The Rondout valley he said was even more beautiful than those who reside within its bounds realize. Those who have lived in the valley all their lifetime fail to really see its beauties and its possibilities. He compared the people of the valley to the man who dissatisfied with his pretty little farm decided to sell it. He invited in a real estate dealer to sell the property. The agent decided to advertise and wrote a beautiful description of the farm and returned later to submit it to the farmer. After listening to the description of the advantages and beauties of the farm as the real estate agent had outlined them the farmer reflected a moment and then said, "that is just the kind of farm I have been looking for all my lifetime." It took the view of an outsider to show the farmer the beauties and advantages of his own farm. So it is with our own locality. Each time he travels up and down the Rondout valley Judge McNamee said he sees the beauties of the valley not as the residents see it but as it really is, one of the beauty spots of New York state with vast possibilities.

Judge McNamee also touched at some length upon the necessity of good citizenship in making any community.

Following the address of Judge McNamee the chamber voted to send a telegram of congratulations to Thomas A. Edison and also to President Hoover in connection with the observance of light's golden jubilee which will be observed on October 21, the fiftieth anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's invention of the first successful electric light.

During the evening there was a program of music by Paul Zucca and his orchestra. Mr. Zucca also led in community singing.

A vote of thanks was also extended Dr. Morton Lown of this city who had in charge the local arrangements for the dinner.

Telegrams Sent.

The following telegram was sent to Thomas A. Edison congratulating him upon the 50th anniversary of his discovery of the incandescent electric light.

To Thomas A. Edison, Lakewood, N. J.

The Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Lights Golden Jubilee Edison Sponsoring Committee of Kingston, N. Y., convey to you this assurance of their attention, admiration and recognition of your character, achievements and the incalculable debt owing to you by humanity.

DR. WALTER N. THAYER,
President Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce.
A. T. CLEARWATER,
Chairman Edison Sponsoring Committee, Kingston, N. Y.

To President Hoover the following telegram was sent:

To The President, White House, Washington, D. C.

The Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Lights Golden Jubilee Edison Sponsoring committee of Kingston, N. Y., extend to you their thanks and congratulations upon your masterly effort properly to have recognized the debt of the civilized world to Thomas A. Edison.

DR. WALTER N. THAYER,
President Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce.

How Weak Nervous Women Grow Stronger

Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves

If you only knew—you rundown, anemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your "nerve"—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. Garner C. Thompson, of 26 Grand View Terrace, Rochester, N. Y., says: "I was subject to bilious spells and sick headaches. My blood was thin and my food wouldn't digest. After six bottles of Tanlac, my sick headaches are gone, my appetite is very good and I have gained 14 lbs."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.

So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

do you like to meet yourself on every street?

Do you feel highly flattered when you discover that dozens of women are wearing exactly the same dress that intrigued your fancy?

Maybe you are one of those big hearted souls who consider it a compliment to your good taste to meet a "sister" at every bridge party. If you do, we glory in your self-abnegation, but you will probably not be interested in knowing that if you bought your clothes here this could never happen.

To us the selection of feminine finery has just a little bit of mysterious ecstasy about it. It gives us just the grandest thrill to think we are chosen to supply a gown that will make a hit at the country club dance, and we would consider ourselves poor sports, indeed, if we kept right on selling replicas of the same dress to as many women as would buy it.

Each of our patrons attains a uniformly high degree of style without ever resorting to a uniform style.

If you choose your Fall things here you will not meet yourself coming down every street in town.

14 Missionaries Talk at Meeting

next five years, to complete the fund and make it $1,000,000." After the paper was read, a collection was taken in the interest of the fund. The meeting closed with the benediction offered by the Rev. Frank H. Neal.

All of the delegates were guests last night under the direction of Mrs. E. L. Merritt, chairman of the hospitality committee. The guests were taken to their homes by automobiles and Boy Scouts, under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Dumm, chairman of the escort committee.

Departmental Meetings.

This morning, the conference opened with a series of departmental meetings. The following departments were in session: Auxiliary presidents, auxiliary corresponding secretaries, treasurers, conference secretaries, districts presidents, extension secretaries, district secretaries, supedintendents of young people's work, junior work, literature, field support, Christian Stewardship and missionaries and managers.

The delegates convened in a body at 10:30 a. m. for a devotional service, and demonstration program.

This Morning's Session.

Mrs. Dorr Diefendorf, branch president, presided over the morning meeting. Minutes of yesterday's sessions were read and approved, roll call of the several delegations was taken, and the acting committees during the convention were appointed.

The feature of the morning session was a beautiful demonstration in the form of a pageant of the work done during the past year. The demonstration was under the direction of Mrs. Charles H. Hardie and Mrs. Alexander S. McNear, who worked on the presentation for a year. It was titled "Mother Love Sees It Through," with Mrs. McNear taking the part of Mother Love.

The demonstration opened with a poetical prologue depicting the history of the organization from its first meeting on June 10, 1869, at Brooklyn. "The voice of faith has carried us on to great accomplishments."

Delegates, representing the different phases of the society's work, presented themselves to Mother Love with the fruits of the year's labor. Each told of the work in her department during the past year.

Literature was the first to present her work. The various publications and reading matter of interest to the organization were presented, and an outlook for the future was predicted.

The young peoples' and children's department presented their accomplishments, consisting of a substantial increase in membership and a formidable plan of action for the coming year.

Summer School Work.

Summer school work in various sections of the state under the direction of the society, showed a good record, and a brilliant outlook for the future.

The "share plan" of helping the missionary was the next presentation. It was explained that this method saved the missionaries much work in writing letters, and gave them a much needed rest during their short vacation periods.

The most studied display of the demonstration was a chart or poster picture of each section of the branch during the past year, in which the division of prayer, service and stewardship, and its basis of enrollment was presented for information. The three-fold enlistment was below the others in each group, but a plan to make that part stronger in the future was told.

The work of the extension department was shown to be severe, in that it demanded much time for seemingly little gain, but when it was explained that the efforts of this department brought the organization to churches in out-of-the-way places, the time and effort was shown to be worthwhile.

The supply and gift department, which sends the missionaries the needed articles for their work, presented a program that brought joy to the hearts of the missionaries and relieved the foreign charges of many things that would have handicapped their courses of action.

Headquarters offered its aid to the branch at any time and served as a clearing house for much of the branch's business.

909 Chapters, 42,731 Members.

The final presentation was made in the name of the organization's many auxiliaries, who bear the brunt of the society's work and are directly responsible for its success. There are 909 chapters, comprising 42,731 members this year, according to the report.

A short period of worship followed, under the leadership of the Rev. Howard Thompson. Brief meetings of the various delegations were held and the convention was adjourned for the afternoon session.

This afternoon, a program with missionaries as speakers was presented, under the direction of Mrs. E. M. F. Miller. Reports and a junior hour were also a part of the program.

The evening session will be devoted to a program conducted by the young people. Mrs. W. Bradford Maskiell and Mrs. Albert E. Beebe will be in charge. The program will consist of an organ recital, devotional service, several addresses and a pageant, "America's Unfinished Battle".

Day of Prayer Service.

The Tuesday afternoon session was designated as a Day of Prayer Service, and attended by some 300 women it proved to be a service of unusual inspiration and simple fervor. One notable feature of the meeting, not to be found on the program, was that of the hymn singing by the women, with Miss Anderson at the organ, and led by Mrs. Diefendorf. It was splendid and of itself an inspiration.

Mrs. Joseph E. Appley presided at this "Day of Prayer Service," calling attention to the exalting of prayer as the very foundation and cornerstone of all Christian acts of service and love as well as worship. She counted it fitting therefore that this sixtieth anniversary of the Missionary Auxiliary Branch could begin its sessions with a prayer service which would be entered into by all present. "As Christ is continually making intercession for us it is our high privilege to have perfect confidence in and appreciation of God's willingness to hear and answer our prayers."

Following the singing of a hymn, Mrs. Fred A. Victor took up the theme, "Praises to Our Father for Himself." Going back to God's children in the time of Moses, they were told to "Rejoice," and not alone in the pleasant days, the fulfilled days, but in the days of hardship, disappointment and distress. Coming down to the time of St. Paul again the children of God, through Jesus Christ are admonished to rejoice even in the dark days if they would see their Lord's face and His glory. Mrs. Victor felt that all the women present should at the beginning of their services, praise God for the sufficiency of His grace, which has never been found wanting; for the greatness of His power; for His love that will not let us go; for our consciousness of Him; for the revelation of Himself in Christ Jesus. She urged that praise of God and Christ Jesus should come before any petition.

"Thanks to Our Father for His Presence in Our Past," was the thought presented by Miss Elizabeth R. Bender, after prayers had been offered in simple earnest faith with heartfelt fervor by several of the women as occurred between other special features of the service. Miss Bender recalled how God was very real to the Israelites and how their prophet saw amidst the wandering, motley crowd, Jehovah marching through the wilderness to victory. Coming to one spot in their wandering the Israelites, following a hard battle won, marked the site with a stone whereon was inscribed just one word, "Eben-Ezer," meaning "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us." That was the word that Miss Bender would have the women of this sixtieth anniversary choose for their conference, "Eben-Ezer." Consecrated lives of vision have been filled with His presence, prayers for those at home and abroad have been answered in the past for He went with them in their work. By that Presence that fellowship with God it had been possible in the past to accomplish the impossible. And of all the achievements of the Branch in its various departments in the past, the greatest, Miss Bender counted to have been the achievement of an increasing spiritual knowledge of Jesus Christ, as shown in the lives of devotion, service, duty and faith showing forth a sense that God is real even in these days. Again there were special prayers offered.

After the singing of a hymn, Mrs. Charles H. Hardie considered "Petition for His Presence in Our Future." Mrs. Hardie reminded the women present of the sacrificial effort made by nearly all of the women present to get together for the anniversary, and urged that the meetings which the women had left their homes to attend, at whatever cost, should not be formal but friendly and marked by a spiritual uplift and sincere prayers for the specific works of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. She urged all to try and avoid a sense of rush and commotion in spite of many meetings and also to try for a companionship that should bring them together at thought presented to the women at the "Day of Prayer Service," by Mrs. Victor, in which she urged the prayer for sacrificial service and evangelical fire that should enthuse all to spread the joyful gospel of religion and inspire them to offer sincere prayer and for a Pentecostal baptism.

The entire service was marked by a simple sincere dignity and earnestness that was most impressive and appealing. At its close there was a short Memorial Service, beautifully commemorative of Ellin J. Knowles, Missionary to Korea; Ethel M. Estey, recording secretary of the society; Mrs. Willard Price, manager of the N. Y. Branch; Mrs. F. F. Hathaway, manager of the N. Y. Branch."

After the singing of a hymn, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered by the Rev. George A. Shahan, D. D.

More Deeds, Less Mortgages

During the month of September last there were 351 deeds, leases, agreements, rights of way and other records pertaining to title in realty filed at the office of the Ulster county clerk, being 59 more than during September 1928, when the number was 292. Of mortgages filed for record there were 212 in September last, against 286 during September 1928.

CONTINUE SALVATION ARMY DRIVE FRIDAY EVENING

The drive for funds for the Kingston Salvation Army is steadily making progress. When it was decided on Monday night to continue the effort until Friday evening the workers were very enthusiastic to follow it up to a successful conclusion.

The $1,499 which was still needed, in the minds of everyone present seemed a small amount for four days' work. One man of the executive committee, who had already contributed a big amount, promised to double his subscription and raise personally an equal amount.

The workers were out yesterday and many are doing the same thing today.

The workers' meeting tonight promises to be a big success. Everybody is asked to come out.

After checking the list of prospects for contributions it was found that a great many have not been seen. Those who have not been approached should send their check or pledge directly to Ensign Van Syckle.

ELIMINATION OF GRADE CROSSINGS IN SYRACUSE

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Elimination of various grade crossings of the New York Central Railroad in Syracuse, N. Y., was ordered today by the Public Service Commission. Estimated cost of the work is $25,810,000.

One-half of eliminating the crossing will be borne by the railroad, 49 per cent by the state and one per cent by Onondaga county.

The order provides for the removal of the main line through Washington street to the present line of the West Shore Railroad to the north and track elevation to be made where necessary.

A new passenger station will be erected at Howard street, about nine blocks north of the present passenger station, with a capacity for 20 passenger tracks and eight platforms.

No Compensation Or Reward for McNab's Work

Undertakes Formulation of Enforcement Legislation as a Patriotic Duty, at Request of President.

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP).—As a patriotic duty of a private citizen, John L. McNab, San Francisco lawyer, has undertaken, at the request of President Hoover, the difficult task of formulating legislation to bring about better prohibition enforcement and relief of court congestion.

Mr. McNab has no official connection with the government, but was urged by secretary Mellon, attorney general Mitchell and chairman Wickersham of the law enforcement commission, as well as the President, to draft legislation for submission to congress in December that would c ntralize prohibition enforcement under the justice department.

Although describing it as a "burden," he said he felt it was his patriotic duty because no one "who has caught the spirit of the president on his ardent desire to make this country a law abiding nation could, for a moment, hesitate to take up this task."

The abuses which have accompanied enforcement of the dry law have brought the act into "unmerited disrepute," he believes, and have broken down the legal machinery through the clogging of the courts.

Long a friend of the chief executive, and a guest since Monday at the White House, he regards the reforms suggested by the President as badly needed and has undertaken his task with the reservation that he will receive no compensation or reward. He will have at his disposal the findings of the enforcement commission.

"It must be understood," he said, "that these reforms do not concern alone the enforcement of the laws in support of the Eighteenth Amendment. The proposal looks to the relief of the courts from their present congestion.

"The abuses which have undeniably accompanied the enforcement of the dry law have brought that act into unmerited disrepute.

"The legal machinery of the country has broken under the strain. Courts have been clogged, abuses have arisen and practices have developed which call for definite reform.

"That reform, the President proposes, shall be prompt and effective."

MAJORITY OF STOCKHOLDERS HAVE DEPOSITED STOCK

A large majority of the stockholders of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation have deposited their stock under the plan and agreement outlined in the letter of August 20 last. It is desired to have the approval of stockholders as nearly unanimous as possible and it is probable that the committee will allow sufficient time for those stockholders who have been absent from home and those who may have neglected to deposit their stock for any reason to join in the plan. It is expected that the committee will meet within a day or so to determine the day when the plan will be declared operative.

NEWBURGH OWES $464,464 ON NOTES THAT WERE ISSUED

City Manager McKay of Newburgh has filed with the common council of that city a complete report of certificates of indebtedness charged against the city. The total amount is $464,464, and the dates go back to 1926. These notes against the city must be taken care of, and until they are handled to the satisfaction of the city manager he asserts that the city must undertake no new permanent improvement unless some vital need for it exists.

ADVERTISING SOLICITOR TALKS TO ROTARY

Among the visiting Rotarians at the weekly luncheon of the Kingston Rotary Club this week was Judge David Kennedy, of Oklahoma, a former resident of Kingston, son of the late Dr. David Kennedy. It was decided to hold a joint meeting with Kiwanis the week of October 21 in celebration of Edison Week. The speaker of the day was an advertising solicitor for one of the New York newspapers.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 2 (AP).—Passing of the [illegible] credit stringency, signalized by the drop from [illegible] per cent in call money, [illegible] the recovery of prices in [illegible] stock market. Some [illegible] developed during the morning as a wave of selling, presumably of [illegible] [illegible] bear operators [illegible] [illegible] points, swept through the market, but there was little evidence of any widespread forced liquidation.

While considerable difference of opinion still exists as to the future course of prices, most of the leading commission houses advised their customers today that the market was entitled to at least a technical rally after nearly three weeks of almost steadily declining prices, which have cut down market values from 10 to 20 per cent in many of the leading issues. Subsidence of foreign selling was an encouraging factor.

Iron Age reported a marked falling off in the automotive demand for steel, due in part to the preparation of manufacturers of low priced cars for changes in models, but again emphasized the heavy railroad demand. Car loadings for the week ended September 21 showed substantial increases over the corresponding weeks of 1926 and 1927, and over the previous week. A further substantial drop in the daily average of crude oil production also was hailed as a bullish factor.

High-priced specialties rebounded in rather spectacular fashion on the lifting of selling pressure. J. I. Case and Foster-Wheeler preferred each jumped 15 points and Columbian Carbon soared 13¼ to a new high record at 303.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, Stuyvesant Hotel.

SEND PHOTOS FROM AIRPLANES BY WIRELESS

Berlin, Oct. 2 (AP).—Successful transmission of photographs to airplanes by wireless was made today for the first time in Europe when the Lufthansa radio station of Templehof Airport sent three photographs to an airplane flying high above Berlin. The photographs showed but a slight variation from the original in all cases, and the reception was effected within five minutes by an ordinary radio set equipped with a small apparatus known as a "fultograph." Radiophotos likewise can be sent from an airplane in midair to a land receiving station.

Odds and Ends

The Good Will Club will hold its card party tonight at 8:15 in Weber's Hall, lower Broadway.

The Mizpah Class of Clinton Avenue M. E. church will hold their annual get-together supper at 6:30 p. m. Monday, October 7. Regular class meeting after supper.

A card party will be held at St. Colman's Hall, East Kingston, Friday night, October 4, beginning at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

The Philathea and Baraca Classes of the Wurts Street Baptist Church held a meeting and social on Tuesday evening, when the winter activities program was discussed and a good time enjoyed.

Henry J. Cox of Pine street is making improvements to his property and has just installed a Richardson & Boynton warm air heating system. The work was done by Van Deusen Brothers, the Strand plumbers.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Church will be held on Tuesday, October 8, at 3 o'clock at the Parish House on Albany avenue. At that meeting the United Thank offering will be received, according to the announcement sent out by Mrs. Martha Schwab, 26 Progress street, Kingston, N. Y., treasurer of the Auxiliary.

MAY FREE MAN NOW SERVING LIFE TERM

Buffalo, Oct. 2 (AP).—Corroboration of the confession of Anthony Kalkiewicz, gangster who implicated his alleged chief, John "Big Korney" Kwiatowski, in the murder of John Perraton, Fedders Manufacturing Company employe, during a payroll holdup at the plant, was said today to be in the hands of District Attorney Guy B. Moore. Kwiatowski is on trial for his life for the killing.

A young sister of Kalkiewicz was reported to have recited facts which not only link up Korney conclusively as leader of the gang of killers, but make possible the exoneration of Edward Larkman, now serving a life term for the murder of Ward Pierce in another holdup, at the Art Metal Workshop here.

The girl was said to have given minute details of the Pierce murder, telling of the meeting of the gang later at her apartment, where pay envelopes were opened. Larkman, according to her story, had nothing to do with it.

SAMUEL CLAUSE CHARGED WITH RECKLESS DRIVING

Samuel Clause of East Kingston entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of reckless driving in police court today and the hearing was adjourned to October 5. Clause was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Carl Young of the town of Ulster, and the arrest was the outcome of an automobile collision on Cornell street, at Bruyn avenue, on September 21.

NEWBURGH ALDERMEN ASKED TO CLOSE SPEAKEASIES

A demand was made on the city council of Newburgh on Monday that the bars and speakeasies in Newburgh be closed with the aid of the police department under the nuisance law. Without discussion the council referred the request to City Manager McKay. The demand was contained in a letter from Roscoe S. Strivings, secretary of the civic affairs committee of the Church Cooperative Board.

Guards Protect District Attorney.

Los Angeles, Oct. 2 (AP)—Armed guards protected district attorney Buron Fitts today as he continued an investigation into sensational charges of graft and corruption in the Los Angeles police department. Gangster threats said to have been overheard by a police detective resulted in the protective measures last night. Captain Thomas O'Brien, Chief of the district attorney's investigation bureau, said he had unimpeachable evidence that underworld characters plotted Fitts' death.

Bond Theft Suspect In Jail.

Boston, Oct. 2 (AP).—Carl Forman of New York city was in jail today accused of being the man who planned with Milton Aiter, 17-year-old messenger boy, and another, the theft of $512,000 in bonds from a New York brokerage house ten days ago. He was caught in the police hunt for suspects in the slaying of Samuel Reinstein, alleged white slaver, and admitted he was wanted for the bond theft. Police clear him, however, of any connection with the Reinstein case.

Find Body of Missing Boy.

Rome, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP).—The body of Eugene Parmalee, 16-year old youth who disappeared September 26 and for whom a state-wide search had been instituted, was found floating in the Barge Canal here today. Paint on the hands and clothing of the dead youth corresponding to that on a nearby guard rail led police to express the belief he had committed suicide, although no motive for the act could be established.

Challenges Right to Make Loans.

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP).—The right of the federal farm board to make loans to the proposed farmers national grain corporation was challenged today by Senator Brookhart of Iowa during examination of Sam R. McKelvie of Nebraska, wheat's representative on the board, by the senate agricultural committee.

Mid-week Service at Baptist Church.

J. W. Frankel will be the speaker at the mid-week service at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A large number should be present. At the close of the meeting, the regular meeting of the pastor and deacons will be held.

Tenth Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rathgeber of Harwich street celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary recently by giving a house warming for their friends, who enjoyed the event very much. Old fashioned games were played and a buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Rathgeber. Mrs. D. P. Waldo entertained with several readings, among which was a poem composed by herself, in honor of the celebration. The guests left in the wee hours of the morning, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Rathgeber many more happy anniversaries. The Rathgebers were showered with many beautiful and useful gifts. Those present were Mrs. Rathgeber, Sr., Miss Florence [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Waldo, Mrs. Olga Peterson and daughter, [illegible], Miss Esther [illegible], Mrs. [illegible] McLean and daughter, [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Charles [illegible], Miss Lillian Hyatt, [illegible], [illegible] Leverich(?), [illegible], [illegible], Miss Betty Wynn of N[illegible].

About the Folks

Dr. C. F. Keefe of 117 Pearl street has returned home [illegible] after spending a month's vacation in California.

Miss Anna Hartnett, R. N., of McKinley Hospital, Jersey City, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Tierney of Park street.

Miss Kathryn Burns of 24 Hanratty street is at the Kingston Hospital where she was operated on for appendicitis by Dr. Joseph Jacobson.

Miss Gretchen Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Snyder of Fair street left town today to enter the Pine Manor School at Wellesley, Mass.

Theodore Brink and Miss Ida Brink have returned from attending the thirtieth annual meeting of The New York State Historical Association held at Elmira, September 25 to 28. The meeting, which was largely attended, was held in the new Mark Twain Hotel. For the meeting next year the association received invitations from Buffalo, Briarcliff Manor and Rochester. [illegible]. The place will be decided at the meeting of trustees in January next.

THE JOINERS

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies

Camp No. 3[illegible], P. O. of A., will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Mechanics' Hall on Henry street.

At a recent meeting of Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge the following officers were elected: W. G., Lina Wolven; V. G., Elizabeth Hart; recording secretary, Claudia Wells; financial secretary, Lucy Hitt; treasurer, M. Freleigh. Some time later these officers, together with the appointed officers, will be installed.

No Double Header.

Philadelphia, Oct. 2 (AP).—The double header scheduled between the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington today was declared off because of rain. As the two clubs do not meet again the games will not be played. The American League season in Philadelphia is now closed, the new champions have but two more games to play, with the Yankees in New York, Saturday and Sunday.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Oct. 2 (State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Cucumbers of fancy quality were in active demand and in short supply on the wholesale market today. Long Island was the chief source of supply and the very finest offerings commanded as high as $25 per barrel.

Early trading at railroad terminals on bulk cabbage and potatoes was limited, doubtless due to the rain. The latest jobbing sales on western New York white Danish cabbage were at $35 to $38 per ton, and on red $60 to $75. Round white potatoes brought $4.40 to $4.50 per 150 pounds.

The demand for peaches has fallen off considerably and today's market ruled dull and weaker except on strictly fancy. Bushel baskets of Elbertas sold from $1.50 to $2.75, principally at $2 to $2.25. Some exceptionally fine fruit, however, realized $3, occasionally $3.25.

The peach season is fast drawing to a close, and the week's shipments for the country were only 556 cars, compared with 2,048 the week before. New York was the leading shipping state with 192 cars.

Prices on cauliflower declined in a sluggish market. Demand was poor and western consignments wholesaled from $1.37½ to $2 per crate. Catskill Mountain fancy pack cauliflower peddled out at $2 to $3.

Arrivals of eastern Big Boston lettuce were light. Western Iceberg was in moderate receipt. Fancy stock of both varieties was eagerly sought and the market was steady to firm. New York, upstate Big Boston lettuce sold from $1 to $2.50 per crate of 24 heads while California Iceberg jobbed out at $4.50 to $5.50 per crate of 48 and 60 heads.

Fancy tomatoes were firmer. Inferior, however, ruled entirely in the buyer's favor. Six-basket carriers from the Hudson Valley wholesaled as high as $3 and as low as $1. California tomatoes packed in lugs of 30 pounds sold from 50 cents to $2.

Green, flat string beans are arriving in carlots from South Carolina. They changed hands promptly, mostly at $3.50 per bushel hamper.

During 1928 South Carolina forwarded 229 carloads of string beans to this market.

Annual Fair and Supper.

The Ladies' Aid of the Wurts Street Baptist Church will hold its annual fair and chicken supper at the church on Tuesday, October 15. The supper will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock. The menu will consist of chicken pie, mashed potatoes, raised biscuit, carrots and peas, celery, cranberry jelly, homemade apple pie or ice cream, coffee. The various booths will have useful and fancy articles for sale.

Explaining Light

Light is radiant energy. Modern scientists say there are many lines of evidence showing that light is simply electrical waves. The waves which are called light because they happen to affect our eyes are not essentially different from the longer and the shorter ones which we make use of in other ways.

How would you tell the exact time at the SOUTH POLE?

WHEN Commander Byrd sailed to the bottom of the world, this was one of his first problems. And because accuracy was essential in scientific observations 60 Hamilton watches went with him.

Two Hamiltons flew with him over the North Pole. And for years, two or three hundred of them have timed the crack trains and express mail planes of the nation.

The same unerring accuracy is yours with any one of our pocket or strap Hamiltons. Come in and look at them. They're priced from $50 to $685. Ask also or write for a copy of the fascinating folder, "With Byrd at the Bottom of the World."

LIGHTS of NEW YORK
By GRANT DIXON

Clubby Folk

The new edition of Club Members of New York contains the names and addresses of 20,000 members of 44 men's and women's clubs in the metropolitan area—and alternate library and best-of-the-month club memberships are not counted. Reading from left to right, the organizations start with the Ardsley Golf club and the Automobile Club of America, and end with the University club and the Yale club.

Champion Joiners

Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Harry Payne Whitney are the champion joiners, belonging to 17 clubs each. Clarence W. Mackay, Irving Berlin's father-in-law, comes next by paying dues in 16. Among the women, Mrs. John T. Pratt—Alderman Ruth Pratt—tops the list with six memberships—and there are only six women's clubs listed. The New York A. C. is most popular of all, having 5,500 members.

Protect the Weak

A new society is thriving in a public school in Greenwich Village. It has been organized to protect the weak and helpless, and to relieve suffering of dogs, cats and horses. The children patrol the streets and see to it that every stray cat is allowed to prowl unmolested in the garbage cans that line the street curbings. They are curb cats, not alley cats; for there are no alleys. The children keep a keen lookout for any kind of cruelty, and a driver who whips his horse in the neighborhood will surely be reported to the S. P. C. A. And if he leaves his wagon for a moment, his whip will be stolen and added to the children's large collection.

Three cheers for Democracy! Single-handed, and with no influence whatever, one unimportant and impoverished citizen has made a supposedly soulless public utility do his bidding. For almost two years he has commuted to Long Island. Every day during most of that time he got caught in the jam before the train gates in the Long Island part of Pennsylvania station. He noticed that his train was usually on its track, all ready for passengers, five or ten minutes before the gates were opened. If they'd only open the gates earlier, he thought, there would be no crush to get through at the last minute. He innocently asked the station master how long before train time the gates should be opened. "The rules say they should be opened 15 minutes before train time, except in rush hours," said the station master.

For several weeks the downtrodden commuter made notes. Even outside rush hours, he discovered, the gates were seldom opened earlier than seven minutes before train time. "Why?" he asked a platform man. "Well," said the platform man, "the train crew's pay doesn't start until 15 minutes before the train leaves, and by the time they have signed up and punched the clock and taken their positions at the doors, five or maybe ten minutes have gone by."

"Oho!" said the commuter. So he wrote a letter to the transit commission, detailing what he had learned. "For a few dollars more," he said, "the railroad could increase its passengers' comfort." The transit commission was right on the job. It sent its inspectors to verify the commuter's complaint, and then called the operating heads of the road on the carpet. The gates now open 15 minutes ahead of time, except when the rush-hour headway makes it impossible.

Saws Way Into Jail and Begins Sentence

Lebanon, Ind.—Emmett Scott, forty-six, started three months' sentence and a new record at the Boone county jail here.

So far, to Scott belongs the distinction of being the only man ever to saw his way in to serve a sentence.

When Scott arrived to do his time he found that the keys had been lost and the doors of the institution locked against him. Under instruction from Sheriff Sandlin he got busy with a hack saw and opened up the gate to the bull pen.

Raises Tombstone for Wife to Aid His Suit

Budapest.—When Mrs. Johana Rudl, during a walk through a Budapest cemetery, found a gravestone on which she was announced as dead and her children, mentioned by name on the stone, as in mourning she decided to start a police investigation.

Within a few days she learned that, wishing to marry again and finding it necessary in some extraordinary way to prove to the object of his affection how devotedly he could love a woman, her divorced husband had erected the monument. It was to show his intended wife how he cherished the memory of any woman who did him the honor of accepting him as a husband.

Island Dock To Go on Air

Kingston Dry Dock & Construction Company to Broadcast Weekly From Station WOKO, "The Voice from the Clouds" at Mt. Beacon.

The Kingston Dry Dock & Construction Company has completed arrangements to broadcast weekly half hour radio programs over WOKO every Wednesday evening from 6:30 to 7 o'clock. Station WOKO, "The Voice From the Clouds," broadcasts on 295 meters from Mt. Beacon, fifteen hundred feet above the majestic Hudson river, and the reception from that station in this vicinity is exceptionally good.

The program sponsored by the Island Dock will consist of a half hour of dance music played by "The Island Dock Boys," every Wednesday evening and will also include special entertainment features from time to time. On Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays the Island Dock will broadcast for shorter periods during the business hour program of WOKO from 5:30 to 6:30 o'clock.

Kingston business houses are realizing the value of radio broadcasting as an advertising medium and shortly it is expected that several other houses will be on the air in attractive programs.

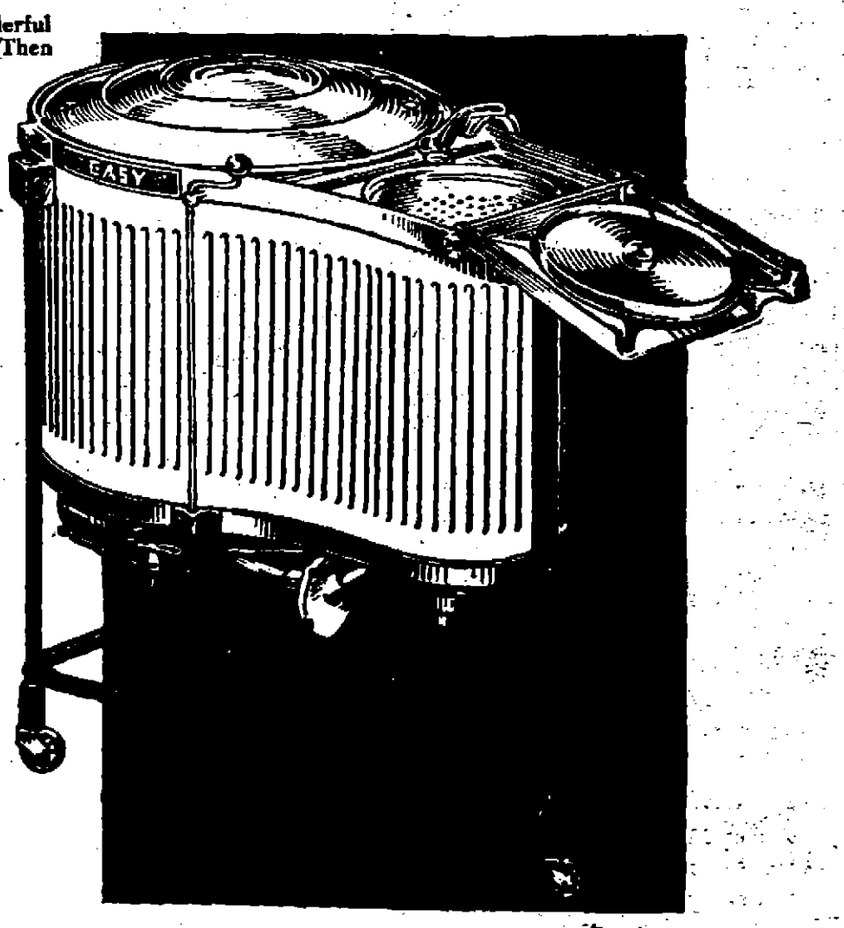
Stop.. see the famous new no-wringer EASY WASHER

Come in today! Inspect this wonderful EASY as minutely as you wish. Then ask for a demonstration on a typical washing in your own home. Actual performance, not mere words, will convince you that Easy does all and more than we claim for it.



Extra without extra cost . . . .

1. Choice of Agitator or Suction Type of washer.
2. Safe—no exposed moving parts. Careless operator or curious child cannot be harmed.
3. Automatically damp-dries a tubful of clothes in less than two minutes. No hand-feeding—piece-by-piece.
4. Washtub and Damp-Dryer operate independently. Two batches of clothes handled at one time.
5. Places no strain on fabrics. Does not crack silk or rayon garments.
6. Leaves blankets and woolens fluffy and unstretched.
7. Breaks no buttons or metal fasteners.
8. Takes out more water than wringer does.
9. Leaves clothes evenly damp. Hems will not drip. Clothes can be line-dried indoors in bad weather.
10. Rinsing can be done in Damp-Dryer without handling clothes until ready for the line.
11. Clothes are free from deep, hard creases.
12. Makes ironing easier—reduces sewing.
13. Damp-dries bulky things like blankets and pillows that will not go through wringer.
14. Power pump empties all water for you electrically.
15. Does a complete washing from basket to line faster than any other washer—and without harmful shortcuts.

8 Years in Advance

EASY announced the centrifugal method of damp-drying three years ago—after five years of research and experiment. Eventually wringers will be eliminated on all the better washing machines, and they will be offered with some type of damp-dryer. But it will not be an EASY Damp-Dryer. For no other damp-dryer can incorporate all of EASY'S features.

EASY terms—Buy your EASY on convenient terms. Liberal allowance on your old washer.
